RACE MIXTURE
HAS RESULTS
IN HAWAIIQuality of a Mixed Blood
Depends Upon Parental
Character and Environment.

HONOLULU, April 25.—Due to the awakening of the yellow peoples and their ever increasing desire to take a full part in the world's affairs, the question of race, always important, is becoming vital in Hawaii.

There is probably no subject on which there are as little reliable data as this one. There is probably no subject which excites more prejudice. Advocates of one side or the other are extremely liable to be blinded by

The first reciprocity treaty with the United States, in 1876, assured the possibility of the Hawaiian islands. With this reciprocity came a demand for labor which the native Hawaiian could not supply. The result was the importation into Hawaii of laborers of various nationalities.

At the present time the population of the following nationalities:

American, British, German,	25,274
Russian	21,500
Chinese	12,600
Philippines	24,930
Hawaiian	13,730
Part Hawaiian	82,100
Japanese	23,260
Portuguese	5,030
Portuguese	4,820
Others	5,400

The Portuguese and the Chinese have been here the longest of the peoples imported for laboring purposes. The Japanese come next as regards length of time in the islands. The Filipino is the most recent arrival.

WHAT MARRIAGE PROVES.

The white man came in contact first with the Hawaiian. There is a considerable number of Hawaiians who have white blood in them. The quality of these white Hawaiian marriages seems to be excellent evidence that the quality of a mixed blood depends not so much on what blood he possesses as upon the individual character of his father and mother, the environment in which he is brought up and the training which he receives.

Hawaiian mothers are indulgent to their children. Where an Hawaiian woman has married a low class white who possesses no great strength of character and who as a rule takes but little interest in his children, the result is not of the best. Where the better class white with a good character has married an Hawaiian woman and has taken an interest in the bringing up of his children they are not in any way behind the average white of the same class.

In the schools the half-whites generally excel in athletics. As a rule they are less attentive to their studies than the best white, Chinese and Japanese children.

There has been considerable intermarriage of Portuguese with part white and with full-blooded Hawaiians. The part whites marry a good deal amongst themselves. The full-blooded Hawaiian is gradually disappearing. The number of part whites is increasing.

RACE QUESTION VANISHED.

During the moment when racial disputes sometimes became acute an effort was made to make matters hinge on the race question. While some feeling was stirred up, it never became serious, and with the settlement of the political questions which had occasioned it, disappeared.

The intercourse between white and Hawaiians or part Hawaiians is determined not by race but by social qualities. There are part Hawaiians who are received socially where many full-blooded whites are not. Here and there there may be some slight racial feeling, but on the whole it is so lacking as to strike a stranger as completely missing.

CHINESE STUDENTS EXCEL.

The Chinese children as a consequence stand well in the schools. Many of the best students are the sons and daughters of Chinese who came to these islands as laborers of the lowest class.

The Portuguese are a reliable element in the community. They are anxious to own their own homes and the schools are as a rule good students, but not quite equal to the Chinese and Japanese. The better class of Portuguese, however, are very able, well behaved, and ambitious.

The Japanese, who outnumber all the other peoples of colored blood of the islands, are the ones with the other races. They could marry with the full-blooded Hawaiian women if they wanted to, but they do not. The white women whom they would care to marry, with few exceptions, will not marry them. As a consequence they stick mostly to their own race. Many undoubtedly marry their own women in any other race.

The Japanese are the most aggressive of any of the peoples other than English, American and German in the islands. They will work readily for the accomplishment of their ends. There they other races will not. They come mostly from the farmer and artisan class of the old feudal system.

They are good.

EDUCATION.

The education of the Japanese children is excellent. They have the best schools and the best teachers. They are the best educated of the colored blood in the islands.

They are the best educated with their teachers. As a rule the other races have been the laborers and storekeepers and the owners of the larger enterprises.

JAPAN NEARING
PARTY RULE
STATUSGrowing Demand Recognized Behind Ministerial Crisis in Mikado's Empire.

LONDON, April 25.—Behind the ministerial crisis in Japan is a growing demand for party government, born of the influence of western education in the mikado's empire, in the view of an Ulsterman.

The type of sword bayonets used were fairly modern, but the old rules used by the Ulstermen created some little comment. They were old Martini-Enfield single loaders, abandoned for warfare twenty years ago. The guns, however, according to experts are handy weapons up to 2000 yards.

Troops with drawn sword-bayonets, guarded and escorted the noted man as he proceeded on the streets. The guard marched from the Belfast-Liverpool boat shed before him motor car through the streets. At Crumlin, Captain Craig's guard saluted. Sir Edward conferred with the Marquis of Londonderry and other Ulster leaders.

The resignation of Admiral Yamamoto's government is the natural result of the present political situation in Japan.

The Ulsterman continues: "The controversy over the navy estimates and the dispute between the two houses which we have lately described. Both houses will be remodeled, refused to adopt these estimates. The lower house first reduced them by $15,000,000 and then rejected the government proposal to allot $20,000,000 to the re-establishment of the permanent naval fund.

The peers went still further and wished to strike off yet another $20,000,000. This last amount, if it is true, was reinstated at a joint conference of representatives of the two houses, but reinstated only by a single vote.

MACDONOUGH

The New York Winter Garden company has become recognized as being the highest standard of producing playhouses in America. The kind of entertainment seen on its stage is totally different from that offered on any other stage in this country. Theater patrons of this city have been able to judge for themselves of the original method employed at that famous theater of novelties in the recall of "The Passing Show of 1912," which is delightfully remembered as the best musical play seen here in a decade. Its success was so great that it remained but a question of time before other productions from the Winter Garden world followed it to this city.

All in all, this latest and best New York Winter Garden success may confidently be expected to open up several new avenues in the realm of fun and mirth during its engagement in this city. The matines will be on Wednesday and the evenings on Friday and Saturday.

ROBERT HILLARD.

Robert Hillard comes to the Macdonough Theater on 3, 11, 12 and 13 in "The Argyle Case," which not only joins up conspicuously as another Klaw and Erlanger success, but is a very distinct personal triumph for the star, who is solidly established in the favor of American playgoers. "The Argyle Case" is wonderfully devised in delicate mechanism of construction. It has no dull moments. It holds fascinating elements of mystery and thrilling suspense from the moment the curtain goes up. There is abundant comedy. It does not glorify the criminal nor idealize the detective; it emphasizes the absolute futility of offenses against the person and society. A murderer is brought to justice. The dictograph that Mation, the Professor who reproduces voices and the finger print and money bleaching processes are demonstrated. A band of skillful counterfeitors is broken up. The prime mover in this work is Asche Yatton, a private investigator who solves his problems by common sense methods such as employed by the famous detective, William J. Burns. The latter has co-operated very skillfully with Harriet Ford and Harvey O'Higgins and the result is quite the best of modern detective dramas, because it is plausible and consistent.

CHANCEY OL'COTT.

Chancy Olcott is always welcome to Oakland, and when he comes with a play of great merit, staged by no less a master of the craft than Henry Miller, and with a collection of sweet melodies in the making of which he took a considerable part, the welcome becomes doubly earnest. The combination outlined will serve as the attraction at the Macdonough May 14, 15, 16 with Saturday matinee, and will unquestionably draw the customary Olcott houses, which means that at every performance every seat will be filled and every inch of standing room occupied.

ORPHEUM

The headliner for the week at the Orpheum will be the noted baritone, David Bispham, who has been secured by the circuit for the benefit of its music professors. Bispham has been the principal baritone for the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York and at the Covent Garden in London. Now he comes to the coast under the management of the popular two-a-day, his appearance unquestionably one of the strongest draws of the season.

Cards of vaudeville for many moons.

The popular terpsichorean act of the week will be headed by Arnette Woodward and Guy Livingston. Just from the "white way" on a brief tour of the coast.

They have achieved an enviable reputation in the East in their interpretations of the world-crazed hesitation waltz, one-step tango, and other popular social dances and steps.

Ben Dally, the clever comedian in blackface, brings a sketch this week that is a side-splitter. He shows the trials and tribulations which fall to the lot of a colored porter at a popular hotel, and the situations are extreme in the fun making. Aside from the burlesque, Dally is a song-writer of some note, some of his biggest hits being "The Alamo Rag" and "I May Look Foolish, But I've Got Common Sense."

A comedy sketch called "The Substitute," handled by Miss Hilda Thomas and Lou Hall, tells the story of a professor of music summoned to the apartment of a well known actress. The absurd situations enacted at the home of the actress by the impersonation of her by her maid, and the discomfort of the professor are the cause of many laughable complications. The plot only introduces the team, Miss Thomas' specialty being accurate limitations, and Hall's the genius of the concert music hall singer.

Johnnie Small and the Small sisters comprise a dancing team which is one of the biggest attractions of the management. They all sing well and their pleasing personalities and sparkling act hold the attention of the audience every minute of the time they are on the boards.

A trick dog who presents decidedly ten minutes of amusement, besides creating a manner of admiration. His master, Pope, puts the dog to the most arduous of tests, to which the animal responds with all the intelligence of a human. The canine performs his tricks with such a mannerism that he betrays all but human intellect.

A team of dancers, Jack Ward and Edna Weber, have arranged an act that is full of new and novel stunts. The act abounds with songs, patter and fancy steps, and is designed to depart from the usual vaudeville work of that sort. For each separate number they have attractive costumes.

The gymnastics for the week will be exhibited by a trio made up of Keno, Walsh and Melrose, and comes highly spoken of.

Exclusive motion pictures will be shown.

Johnnie Small and the Small sisters comprise a dancing team which is one of the biggest attractions of the management. They all sing well and their pleasing personalities and sparkling act hold the attention of the audience every minute of the time they are on the boards.

A trick dog who presents decidedly ten minutes of amusement, besides creating a manner of admiration. His master, Pope, puts the dog to the most arduous of tests, to which the animal responds with all the intelligence of a human. The canine performs his tricks with such a mannerism that he betrays all but human intellect.

A team of dancers, Jack Ward and Edna Weber, have arranged an act that is full of new and novel stunts. The act abounds with songs, patter and fancy steps, and is designed to depart from the usual vaudeville work of that sort. For each separate number they have attractive costumes.

The gymnastics for the week will be exhibited by a trio made up of Keno, Walsh and Melrose, and comes highly spoken of.

Exclusive motion pictures will be shown.

The "Honeymoon Girl," a rollicking, dashing and up-to-the-minute musical comedy, will be the Columbia's next attraction, commencing with the matinee. Dillon and King the producers promise their patrons an entertainment well filled with gaiety, music and comedy.

VIEWS AND REVIEWS OF WHAT WORLD IS DOING

GRAPE JUICE AS NAVY TIPPLE

What Was Said When John Barleycorn Had to Walk Plank

"Walk the plank," ordered Secretary Josephus Daniels of the Navy. John Roosevelt took the walk. Where? "The United States Navy is dry. What Water everywhere, and not a drop to drink," mournfully chant those officers.

It was "after being embarrassed in our offices, when conducting those of other services to be allowed to serve no wine. To our minds, this is far less vital than the removal from our young officers of the temptation to excess. Moreover, foreigners, when they are told that the absence of wine is due to a government order, will not only understand, but will respect a nation that can take so bold a stand. If the German Emperor can deny himself all spirits and encourage his officers to abstain totally, in a beer-drinking country like his, our Government can take the position. It has twenty years hence, if upheld by succeeding war secretaries, the wineless man-of-war will seem as much a matter of course as does the man-of-war without grog and the cat-of-nails-tails."

UPHOLDS SECRETARY.

The Pittsburgh Times, upholding Secretary Daniels, declares that his action will redound to the good of the service, and holds that this, above all, is the matter to be considered. In this connection it says:

In every field of endeavor the man for the highest standard of honesty, and in every vocation where man's life is exposed to peril and misery, honor is the master. So that, no matter what one's views are as to so-called "personal liberty," Secretary Daniels stand still be recognized as responsible to the real good of the service rather than the mere enforcement of what is sometimes described as the narow temperance standard of conduct.

While upholding the abolition of the navy's grog, the New York World sees in the present navy situation a different issue, and one that, it holds, is not to be confounded with the latter.

Unlike the abolition of the army canteen, says the World, which was by act of Congress, this command proceeds from one man, and is altogether arbitrary. It summarily invades the rights of thousands of American citizens. In an affair of social custom it imposes the will of one man upon many men. It chances without conference or consultation

the qualifications necessary to employment in an important branch of public service. It is not reformatory.

It is revolutionary. It is a shameful reflection upon the honor of a noble profession.

No doubt there can be navies without wine, just as there can be navies without ceremony or culture, but there can be no navy worthy of the name that is clothed in humiliation.

Under this tyrannous rule we send skilled fleets to sea with their officials tutored like schoolboys; chaperoned like schoolgirls.

OFFICERS' VIEWS.

Officers declare that the order will return in a system of espionage.

They declare that it imposes the secretary's personal code of conduct on the men of the navy, or rather the officers, for it is to these that the matter applies. In the meantime the ships are dry inside, and so are some of the officers. The controversy is being watched by naval officials throughout the world, and high authorities will be keenly observant of the result of the experiment.

PRISON REFORM MOVES AND THEIR CAUSES

Two important events on which the eyes of the world have been focused have now impelled to a movement, fathered

by psychologists and criminologists, for the softening of the lot of those whom it is desired for its own protection, has condescended to prison life.

One, the softening of the lot of the Frenchwoman now facing trial for murder, and whose treatment, led to a split protest by other women prisoners, who declared that she had consideration that did not express many prison conditions. The investigation of the shooting of the convicts at Folsom

in their recent break was another affair that led to many suggestions for bettering

the condition of the convicts.

Prison reform is a problem that perhaps presents one of the hardest puzzles of today. The Chicago Herald-Herald draws a lesson in it from the California affair, saying:

How shall the lady murderer be tried between crime and trial?

French public opinion is worked up over the luxurious surroundings enjoyed by Mme. Cailloux, and even her fellow prisoners have joined in the protest. If one murderer is to have the comfort of a heated cell and the attendance of a maid, why not another? Accordingly, a second temperamental lady, confined in the same prison, has been given modern conveniences and adequate food.

A possibly awkward precedent is being set, but it is the right thing to do, and it is the right thing to do.

It is the right thing to do, and it is the right thing to do.

It is the right thing to do, and it is

Does Your NOSE Repel or Please?

RUSSELL

Apply hot cloths to nose instead of trying to steam over a basin of hot water.

Copyright 1914 By Lillian Russell

Does your nose repel or please by the condition of the skin upon it? Are you troubled with unsightly blackheads or enlarged pores? Is your nose oily or red? Is it covered with freckles or pimples? You may have the most perfect figure, the brightest eyes, the whitest teeth, and the silkkiest hair, but if your skin is unwholesome and unclean looking the other charms count for little. Your nose being the most prominent feature of your face, it is naturally the first feature the eye lights on. Defects upon it, unlike some other defects, will not be hidden. They are apparent and distasteful to every passerby.

But there is no necessity for you to go on suffering mortification if you are sensitive about your nose. Soap and water, a good astringent lotion, massage and a little care and attention will remedy almost all the ills the skin of the nose is heir to. Most women who suffer mortification from blackheads would be highly indignant if any one told them the blackheads were the result of not keeping their faces clean. Yet that is the simple truth. A blackhead is a pore which is full of grease and dirt grown hard from long standing. Soap and water is the main preventive as well as the remedy.

Don't make the mistake of trying to steam your face to soften blackheads. You will destroy the natural oils of the skin and cause it to dry out and wither long before its time. Instead, when washing your face at night, apply hot cloths to it, renewing every half minute or so as the cloths cool. Scrub the face vigorously with pure castile soap and a camel's hair complexion brush to release all possible dirt. Then after wiping it perfectly dry a massage with a good cold cream is advisable. A few such treatments on successive nights ought to soften the blackheads so that they will yield to gentle pressure.

The Green Soap Treatment.

The green soap treatment cannot be used on thin skins, but it rarely, if ever, fails to help the defects. The "green soap" is not green. It is yellow and may be purchased at any drug store. Before using the green soap bathe the face in warm water—not too hot, but so the heat will be pleasant to the skin. When the skin looks pink and feels soft and warm, anoint it with the green soap. Rub it well into the pores for three minutes. Rinse the soap from the face with warm water, using a camel's hair complexion brush so as to remove all of the soap and as many of the blackheads as will come. Then use cold water until the face is thoroughly cool. Wipe the face thoroughly with sterilized gauze or cheesecloth. Fill the skin with cold cream, just "daubed" on all over. Let it remain half an hour. Then wipe off with a soft cloth any cream that is superfluous. The amount of dirt that comes off will be incredible. Continue this treatment every night until the blackheads have disappeared.

A bit of cotton saturated with pure peroxide of hydrogen will bleach the hair in the nostrils.

Never attack blackheads with the fingernails or the round of a watch key, for the harm you can do in this way may take days to remedy. Take a soft, clean handkerchief and fold it several times loosely so that it will form a pad under each thumb nail. Then gently force out the "wurm." You should do this at night, as there is nearly always a little redness left after the squeezing, and it is well not to irritate the skin just before going out into the air.

If the blackheads are too obstinate to yield to the foregoing treatment the following lotion will be found good: Carbonate of magnesia and zinc oxide, one dram, rosewater, four ounces. Shake this mixture in rich and indigestible food. If the cause is not deep seated, local treatment will often be of benefit. An excellent lotion for pimples is: Precipitate of sulphur, one dram, tincture of camphor, one dram; rosewater, four ounces. This may be applied several times a day.

Scares that are left from pimples or scratching sometimes last quite a while. But gentle massage of these with cold cream will nearly always improve their appearance. Much patience is needed, however, for it will take time to efface such marks.

Massage will do much toward remedying coarseness of the skin of the nose. Rub gently but with considerable pressure, using the middle fingers and manipulating from the tip along the sides of the bridge to the top. Rotate well at the base, also, and the sides of the nostrils. In all these movements remember that the surface of the skin moves less under the fingers than it does on the muscles and bones, and their general direction is upward and outward. This treatment night and morning after the face is washed equalizes the circulation and keeps the subaceous follicles, which are numerous at the sides of the nose, in the state of proper activity.

Pimples and Scars.

If your nose is oily, wipe it off once or twice a day with diluted alcohol. Put a pinch of borax into the water now and then when you wash your face. You may use a good rice powder that is absorbent. Avoid all rich and greasy food and stop butter for a little time.

The hair in the nose never should be pulled out. But, at least once a week, a bit of cotton saturated with pure peroxide of hydrogen should be placed in the nostrils while one is dressing. This will bleach the hair so that it will not be noticeable.

Pimples on the nose are not infrequently seen on girls. Sometimes they are due to an internal derangement which requires the advice and treatment of a physician. Not infrequently they follow indulgence in rich and indigestible food. If the cause is not deep seated, local treatment will often be of benefit. An excellent lotion for pimples is: Precipitate of sulphur, one dram, tincture of camphor, one dram; rosewater, four ounces. This may be applied several times a day.

LILLIAN RUSSELL'S ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES BY BEAUTY SKERS.

T. G.: Breathing through the mouth is not only bad for the health, but also makes the lips thick. When practicing deep breathing never inhale through the mouth. Keep the mouth closed and take a deep breath through the nostrils, letting it out the same way. I am sure if you use a little bit of will power you can soon overcome the habit.

M. M. H.: Hang nails usually come from improper manicuring. Unless you keep the cuticle around the nail pushed back and free from the nail it will become dry and will split and peel down the finger, causing painful hang nails. It is not a difficult matter to push the cuticle back from the nail every morning after washing the hands. Cut the hang nails as closely as possible. A pair of curved scissors is the best to use. Never pull the hang nails off, for this may cause you a great deal of trouble. Apply a little peroxide to the finger and then put a dab of cold cream on it. It will soon heal. If you care for complete instructions for manicuring I shall gladly send them to you, if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

HAZEL: When tartar forms on the teeth it is best to go to your dentist and have it removed. One should have the teeth thoroughly cleaned and examined about twice a year, so as to remove all tartar and keep them in good condition. I am sorry I cannot give you a good one on the market. You might ask your dentist to give you the name of a good one.

R. L.: In a case of excessive perspiration of the feet fully and dust with plain talcum powder. The hose for excessive perspiration of the feet: One grain peroxide of potash and one ounce of distilled water. After bathing the feet and drying well apply the lotion with a piece of soft gauze. Dust with talcum.

* *

MRS. W. T. J.: Lanolin is the foundation of nearly all of the creams and skin foods. It has the effect of soothing and nourishing the skin, replacing the natural oils that are washed out by the use of too much soap or by neglect in keeping the skin clean. There is not any fat quite so beautifying. Here is the formula for the orange flower skin food. I have used this cream for a number of years: Melt together in a double boiler one-half ounce of white wax, one-half ounce of spermaceti, one ounce of lanolin, two ounces of sweet almond oil, and one ounce of coconut oil. Take off the fire and beat until cold, adding little by little two ounces of orange flower water to which five drops of tincture of benzoin has been added. Be sure to beat the ingredients until quite cold, for beating is the secret of the cream. Be sure, too, that your ingredients are absolutely fresh and the correct amounts are given to you. This cream, if massaged into the skin, will remove the tiny wrinkles about the eyes.

* *

I. H. K.: I don't think it is the powder that has caused the change in your complexion. The complexion usually depends upon the general health. If you have

should be changed daily. The following lotion is good

S. G.: Massage will give almost instant relief to tired feet. A little olive oil will help also. The following is a good foot balm: First bathe the feet in cold water and salt, and then apply the salve: Ten grains calomel, one dram carbonate of zinc, five drops oil of eucalyptus, one ounce ointment of rose water. Massage the feet well with this every night, and powder freely with talcum in the morning.

* *

RUTH G.: Gentle massage with a good skin food will remove the tiny wrinkles. You must be careful in massaging around the eyes. Do not allow any of the cream to get into the eyes.

MRS. J. F. N.: I would advise you to stop one treatment and take just one every two weeks. When the hairs start to turn gray there is little that will stop it entirely. Scalp massage will keep the scalp flexible and the hair will gain more nutrition. It will also remedy the oily condition of your hair. I shall be glad to send you the formula for hair tonic if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

* *

THEODORE: A chronic case of pimples requires the attention of a physician. It may be caused by pure blood. I would advise you to get a good blood tonic from him. Apply a little peroxide of hydrogen to the spots. This will bleach them.

PARIS NOW OUTFITS GREAT AMERICAN CIRCUS

Futurism Invades Tented World; Bakst and Poiret's Influence Felt

IME was when mosquito netting and cotton-back mosaics in satin was glittering splendor under the dusty circus tent, but bless you, how times have changed.

Shade in Paris now is the circus. It is the age of lace, and even the eighteenth century looks poor and mean by contrast.

But who would suspect that on the barge and proscenium Rose de la Chasse d'Anton a whole circus of clothes is rioting.

There is a riot of perfume counters. There the old village nets, the lady bargeback rider and the jagged sword swallowers whose costume is negligible, find themselves moving in the best circles of old world extravagance, such as the countesses, knights and ladies fair from the London pantoines, or French marquises and pretentious duchesses from the Variete.

NOW IT'S TO PARIS.

Does the circus go to Paris to be costumed?

DREXEL-BIDDLE LOSES TEETH IN LUMBER CAMPS

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—"Dinky" Biddle, Quakershire's and Biddle class organizer, is back from a trip to Canada with his boxing gloves, snow shoes, and a bundle of posters bearing the names of half a dozen Drexel-Biddle Biddle classes enrolled in the land of the lumber-jacks.

Behind him Biddle left a stack of Bibles and three perfectly sound front teeth.

The Canadian lumber region had heard of Biddle and recently there came a call from one of the camps in the Northwest to see "the dude who could box." Biddle packed his Bibles, his snow shoes and his boxing gloves and started North. As soon as he got over the United States border he found a wide impression that he was some sort of a "white hero."

As fast as he could issue invitations to fight. He fought. The camp to join Biddle classes he received challenges to fight. He fought. The camps would select the local champion and when a meeting organized the class would wait a few minutes while Biddle and the lumber jingoes put on the gloves." After the fight Biddle preached a sermon on "Athletic Christianity," his husky opponents listening at the improvised ring.

Biddle called upon his dentist as soon as he returned home, and now he smilingly refuses to discuss the athletic features of his organizing trip except to admit that he didn't take the "mackintosh" in the lumber camp encounters.

IS COSTLY DAUGHTER.

SILVER, Cal., April 26.—A fine of $10 was imposed on Jose Vierra, a wealthy rancher, for failure to send his 13-year-old married daughter to school.

Vierra paid the fine, but protested that as his daughter was married she was out of his control and that the ranch should be held responsible.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

That Kiss Hold-up in Los Angeles

A press dispatch from Los Angeles tells us that one woman held up and robbed two men in the wee sma' hours of a morning last week. Thus is the sex vindicating its claim to the franchise. It will be remembered that one of the objections to enfranchising the women of this State was that they were not able to bear arms. An absurd objection, to be sure. History tells us of many battles in which feminine fighters distinguished themselves, not only for their bravery, but for their brutality, and we know that the slaughter of men by women is one of the burning problems of this State. If women are not soldiers it is not because of an inherent disability; it is because they might demoralize an army. If they have not taken up foot-soldiering, it is not because

That Gun-for-Gun Salute and Precedent

When President Huerta agreed to salute the American flag provided that the salute be acknowledged by a return salute, gun for gun, he was not so unseasonable as was supposed. Indeed the request was justified by precedent. There are many instances of that sort of saluting, but our State Department was probably ignorant of them when the demand for a salute was made on Huerta. One of the instances was in the case of M. Dillon, the Consul of the French Embassy at San Francisco in 1854. The offense against the French Government came in this instance from the United States. A subpoena duces tecum had been served upon M. Dillon, which, in his recent capacity as a diplomatic representative of France, he declined to obey. The French Minister at Washington took up the case and insisted

Legal Status of Decollete Gown

A young woman of prominence in Pasadena social circles was struck by an automobile, and so injured that a scar was left on her shoulder when the wound healed. She sued for $20,000 damages, alleging that her social prospects were ruined by reason of the fact that she would never again be able to wear a decollete dress. Judge Jackson of the Los Angeles Superior Court, instructing the jury, refused to allow her claim for special damages on the ground alleged, and the young woman was put off with a verdict of $250.

American Princess Loses Old Home

The last of the Princess del Drago's house at the corner of Fifth avenue and Sixty-second street, New York, which is being removed to make way for the new neoclassical structure, was cleared away last week. As the wreckers pulled away at the once massive entrance to the mansion all that remained of the well-known house, another band of wreckers were busy preparing to remove the old Victoria Hotel on the south side of involved a gross disrespect to France. The negotiations looking to reparation were conducted by Secretary of State Marshall and the affair was compromised by an agreement that France would accept as a sufficient satisfaction an expression of regret coupled with the following provision: "When a French national ship or squadron shall appear in the harbor of San Francisco the United States authorities will considered gross, indecent, to speak of a woman's legs. We knew they were there, perhaps, but we mentioned them only as 'limbs.' A table might have legs, or a piano, but a woman—she! Now Los Angeles, for all its size, has not yet overcome the village habit.

Why should not a young woman be allowed smart money in damages for loss of her right to wear a low-cut gown, unless right, as Judge Jackson apparently did? George Bernard Shaw declares that the best legitimate profession open to women is marriage. The statement is not exactly true, but notwithstanding the multitudinous of "careers" now open to feminine talent, Shaw's proposition remains true for all practical purposes affecting the great majority of women. To that end of mating and marrying women have from time to time immemorial bent every circumstance of allurement, and every such circumstance should in justice be assessed at its marked value. If the Pasadena young woman had sued to recover the value of some "delicate confection" in men's wear, Judge Jackson would undoubtedly have allowed the plea to go to the jury for what the hat might be worth. The prime purpose of millinery is to promote matrimony. After marriage it survives as a habit. But if a young lady is endowed by nature with beautiful and dazzling shoulders, her chances in the marriage market are materially injured. She is predestined from the cradle to be admiring masculine gaze.

Judge Jackson is no doubt a creature of the early Victorian period, when it was considered the highly proper thing to expose the feminine anatomy altogether. At that time it was considered immoral for a young woman to expose anything more than the tip of her toe. Nowadays she flaunts on the street a bountiful selection of leg, and her well-filled stocking is displayed when running on the front pages of the newspapers. Shortly she will be going around in lace breeches, because this is a progressive age, and the skirt is merely a badge of servitude, the survival of a period when women were accounted chattels in the squinting eye of the law.—News Letter.

Arthur Brisbane on One Dr. Aiked

Arthur Brisbane does not approve of Dr. Aiked. The highest price man in the Hearst service disagrees utterly with the ten thousand dollar pastor who is a contributing editor of the Examiner. The editor of the fresh editorial which has made the William R. Hearst papers famous, has advanced on a score of points to the public with the caustic sarcasm which episcopates on the Gregory-Larkin-Wilcox page three times a week. What Aiked is for, Brisbane is against. What Aiked advises, Brisbane condemns. There is on the part of these two men a divergence of views which must surprise those old-fashioned people who look for standards in the policy of a paper's chain of papers. Such people must be reminded that Hearst does not impose the virtue of consistency upon himself, and thinks it equally unnecessary in his employes. Hearst would have the papers he owns please all sorts and conditions of men except the judicious few; so he permits his editors to advocate the affirmative and negative of all pronouncements under heaven, except those which directly concern his political ambitions. Hence it is that he allows Arthur Brisbane to rebuke Dr. Aiked for championing sex and white slave plays.

We all know with what a warmth of verbiage Doctor Aiked expressed approval of "The Lure," "The Traffic," "Peach Bloom" and "The Inside of the White Slave Traffic." In his recommendations of these nasty dramas the enthusiastic clergymen almost exhausted his supply of for those who disapproved of these plays was couched in blistering language. He went so far in his indorsement of "The Inside of the White Slave Traffic" after the moving picture censors had condemned it that the enterprising theatrical managers plastered the billboards with his words of unequivocal commendation. And now we have Arthur Brisbane swatting the pulpits—journalist. He does it in his full-page editorial "Humanity Up A Tree" published in Sunday's Examiner.

The public is asked in the name of art," writes Brisbane, "to accept these horrible pictures of the vilest sort spots in our half-degraded humanity, and find in them useful lessons and foundation for better living." * * * Pictures of vileness have had nothing to do with the human program, nothing to do with the upward long, slow climb that has brought humanity to its present condition. * * * You can not turn a boy away from vice by showing him in the hospital the horrible victims of vicious living. * * * You cannot find any inspiration in the sordid. * * * No good comes from wickedness. And that is the lesson that the public should teach—by its condemnation of vileness in literature, in plays, in public and private life."

How does Dr. Aiked like that rebuke from his editorial superior? Will he take the hint? Let us adopt a policy of watchful waiting.—Town Talk.

Baron Von Schroeder's Offer Not Sensation

Baron Von Schroeder's offer to sell for $100,000 to the citizens of San Rafael, the famous Hotel Rafael, did not create the sensation which such a proposal would have caused 10 or 15 years ago. Great have been the changes on both sides of the bay and the offer of a piece of property for less than $200,000 which once represented about a million to the owners, passes almost without comment. San Rafael possessed great social attractions in the days when the young Baron Von Schroeder fresh from his army career in the Fatherland won the heiress of Peter Donohue, a pioneer cananist, who owned a railroad, a gas company, a large iron works and much real estate. The Baron himself belonged to a rich family. In those days it did not matter vitally whether the Hotel Rafael paid or not, but a large and unprofitable suburban hotel is not a thing to tie to these days of financial stress. In recent years the social tide has turned toward San Mateo County, Oakland, Berkeley and Piedmont, have set up independent social sets of their own. San Rafael with its many natural advantages and the disadvantages of a slow ferry service has lost its great prestige as a summer resort. It will not regain it without a large and well-managed hotel.—The Wasp.

Bohemian Election Causes Excitement

The Bohemian Club hasn't had so much excitement in years. The annual meeting is really a humdrum affair, but this time it developed a sensation. The War of the Bells has brought about an alignment of forces that promises to infuse a good deal of "pep" into the polling, when the postponed election is finally held. Perhaps the fact that "Bill" Smith was to serve one term and hand the presidency over to Charles Field for the forthcoming period may have had something to do with the putting forward of "Bill" Metson as an opposition candidate. Such a program was talked of, and received the approval of many, for Field has made an excellent presiding officer. But the leaders of the opposition probably thought that any program for next year was premature. If they did not elect Metson, they at least carried their point: for all programs seem to be off. Meanwhile the great Entomologist in Bohemia, waits patiently for club recognition. However, as Jerry might put it, knowing whereof he speaks, a mummy will always sleep.—Town Talk.

Norris' Posthumous Novel Newly Found

It was announced the other day that a posthumous novel by Frank Norris had just been published. It is called "Vanderover and the Brute," and I understand it was written about the same time as "McTeague." It is a first draft, but those who have seen it say that it has the Norris power in crude form. The manuscript has a strange history. At the time of the fire and earthquake it was in a storage warehouse that was burned to the ground. The contents of the warehouse were thrown out of the windows into a vacant lot. In the course of time the estate containing the manuscript found a resting place in another warehouse, where it remained for years, until it was discovered in a dark ant. When the manuscript was discovered the author's name was missing, and so it was not put in a scrapbook, but was left to the care of a man who had been a friend of Norris' old friends. This man, who was a mummy, was asked to give his idea of a suitable title. He said, "Let's call it 'Vanderover and the Brute'." And so it was published after this fashion: "Let's get a pretty, young, rocky girl, holding a lot

Aid to Divorcees and Some Psychology

When Judge Graham advised Mrs. Gus Larm to interest club women in the matter of divorce, he perhaps did not have the complete psychology of the thing in mind. The incident arose over the burning question of alimony, so dear to the hearts of—well, a certain percentage of women.

The plaintiff was the wife of Gus Larm, formerly manager of the Manz Hotel, and noted for his congenital attitude toward the world and his wife. When Mrs. Larm was about to have her decree signed, Judge Graham, in a fit of pique, said that there was something lacking in the perfumed judicial atmosphere of divorce. And then: What? No alimony? Evidence some one had blundered. But no. Plaintiff's attorney responded to the taunt by stating that a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the state of New York, in a divorce action, had given the plaintiff a summons to publication. It was then that the judge said Mrs. Larm to have the club women of the city interested with the statute makers and have such a condition abolished.

Upon having his wife go into the alimony "granary," Widower will fight the battles of the contestants, if fear of alienating the affections and arousing the suspicions of admirers. Few debuts would begin like this career with such a business. Divorces with long records on the alimony calendar will not have much influence in Saenger's. This leaves a class of half-smiled middle-aged women that are accustomed to do anything with out criticism from their fellowkind. How will they bring them into the idea? The mats of the species, in his laws, has heretofore been very kind to women on the subject of alimony. If woman can improve the system of payments, she will indeed be clarifying politics and matrimony.—The Wasp.

San Franciscans Have a Gay Week

Last week was devoted to charity, almost every day seeing one fair maid and matron gowned in their best, tripping the light fantastic in this good cause. On Saturday the docents' daughters were hostesses at the Palace, and judging by the throng the event must have been truly successful. Mrs. Prentiss Cobb Hake entertained a most attractive little coterie of belles in honor of her daughter, Miss Linda Bryan. Right Off the Reel

Gossip of the Movie Plays and Players.

"The life of a moving picture villain grows somewhat strenuous at times," says Joseph Levering of the Solax company. "Not long ago I was forced to climb out of a fourth story on a wire cable, have a desperate combat with one of my kind in midair, and fall to the ground—but I did well for it. I did two times, but I gradually lost my enthusiasm for the occupation. Because of a ruined negative the scene had to be repeated each time. On the third and last time I was to be dashed into the waiting blanket below.

and I had a chance to find out how hard the ground out in Jersey is."

A race between a railroad train and an automobile is one of the features of "His Punishment," a Majestic play, dealing with labor conditions. The principal parts are portrayed by Howard Davies, Eugene Pallette and Lorraine Van Trump.

In fifteen cities of the country moving pictures are now being used as a means of giving instruction in the Bible. These pictures illustrate the teachings of the Bible from the dawn of creation to Revelation. The pictorial Bible classes are open to every one without an admission price, and without a collection basket, the International Bible Students association bearing all expenses.

"Villa is too anxious at times that we should get the hot stuff, and we were under constant fire," is the word received by the Mutual Film company from photographers who took films of the fighting between the Federal and the Constitutional armies at Torreon, Mexico. The Vitagraph company has arranged with Cleveland Moffatt, the author, whereby the motion picture concern will present his detective story "Through the Wall" in picture form. It will be made into a six reel production. The two principal characters in the novel are Paul Coque, a detective, and his trained dog. It is not decided who will portray the detective, but the Vitagraph dog, Shep, already is rehearsing his part.

"The motion picture art is experiencing a renaissance," says Miss Alice Blanche, woman director of the Solax features. "It seems perfectly safe to say that the days of the inferior photoplay productions are numbered. Already the carefully staged offering marked by the infud of true genius is seen occupying the same theater for many consecutive days, to the exclusion of dozens of photodramas formerly considered good enough to give the public at the rate of five or six a day. The changed condition of affairs marks the triumph of the production of artistic worth."

EARLE WILLIAMS of the Vitagraph players had a varied stage career before becoming a movie actor. His first professional appearance before the footlights was with the Baldwin-Stratton Stock company at the Grand Opera House, New Orleans, 1911, in the play "Siberia." He played a short season with the company and then appeared for a time with the Academy of Music Stock company in the same city. Later Mr. Williams was with Melbourne McDowell and Florence Stone. He spent a season with James O'Neill, and then for three years was with Fredrick Belasco at the Alcazar in San Francisco. He played a short season with Henry Miller and then appeared in "The Man on the Box," "When Knightwood Was in Flower," and "Way Down East." After this experience he became leading man at the Orpheum Stock company in Salt Lake City, Utah, and then followed engagements in "The Chorus Lady," "The Third Degree," and "The Sign of the Rose."

Those who know Mr. Williams well say he is quiet of manner, never obtrusive, and that he has a magnetic friendliness that draws people to him. He was born in Sacramento, Cal.

"Well," he said, "if they are well come back. But it's a poor movie fan who lets a little rain keep him from his favorite theater." (To see, everybody's got it—the fever.)

There weren't many people out around Broadway and Fifth avenue and those streets, but as we ambled farther and farther east, the streets became fairly alive (canary) with them—and all of them apparently having the time of their lives, hatless, umbrellaless—some of them contless. And every little moving picture theater had its line at the ticket seller's window. I pointed to a place that was especially brightly lighted.

"Let's go in there and see what the pictures are," I said. My companion acquiesced. He pushed open a little door in the top of the cab with his umbrella. A beery eye appeared at the opening and a coarse voice questioned:

"Watcha want?"

"My escort told him and we drew up with much elat in front of the theater. The doors opened themselves and we stepped out. Somebody said:

"Gosh, lookut th' swells!" Somebody else said: "Betcha they're alterm!" And like curious little children they stood and stared and laughed while we asked for tickets.

The ticket seller looked at us and shook his head.

"No room!" he said.

"All sold out?"

"Uh hub. Mebbe yuh kin git in across the street. We're goin' to have a moving picture show in the hall. So, followed by many giggles and much conjecture as to who we were and what could be the matter with us, we crossed the street, followed with much rapidity by our driver and his somnambulant beast. One knew without a kink that he regarded it as perfectly possible that we might try to make a getaway and was resolved to prevent such a happening, even though it might be necessary to unhook the horses in order to do it."

At this theater we met with more success, though we were just in time, at that, for there were only two seats left. These were away down in front right next to the piano player, who paused in her operations long enough to shift the gum from one side of her mouth to the other and remark to a young man leaning against the instrument:

"Pike what's in th' vurry front row takin' up seats that honest workin' people hopes to git it—" I know by the look of her that she had a lot more things she wanted to say; but her duties demanded her attention, so she resifted her gum and went on playing.

"Dawn and Twilight—Essanay," the curtain read, and I gave a happy little sigh. Not that I was homesick or anything, but you see, I've spent so much time at the Essanay lately that it gave me a sort of a comfortable feeling to think that here in a strange city I was to see some familiar faces. And when Francis X. Bushman with his beautiful smile appeared I almost squealed. I was so glad to see him.

"I'd love to," I told him. "And I do know somebody. And I never rode in a hansom in my life. SO—I'm going!" I thanked him then and rang off. Then I called up the man I know who is a friend of the family. He was perfectly willing to go with me, though he wasn't so particular about the hansom.

"They're so all-fired slow!" he said.

"The slower the better," I said blissfully. "You know this isn't to be a joy ride. It's a sight seeing expedition—and, besides, I never rode in one of those things and I want to do that."

"O, all right," he told me good naturally. "I'll call for you at 8." So that was settled.

Rain Doesn't Bother East End.

Now I aight just as well up and confess at the beginning that I haven't been in New York since I was 5 years old, and that I am just as ignorant as I can be about loads of things. Hansoms, for instance. That is, I was ignorant about hansom. Now I think I understand them perfectly and I think they're adorable from the horse that is always asleep whether he's going or standing to the funny doors that apparently open and close of their own accord and the driver with his weary, beery eyes and his voice like a fog horn.

It was Saturday and had been raining all day. As a matter of fact, it was raining when I left Chicago and it never stopped for one minute all during the trip and when I arrived in New York the water was coming down in pailfuls. I said to my companion:

"It's rather a shame that it's such a wet night, for probably all the people will be at home."

"Well," he said, "if they are well come back. But it's a poor movie fan who lets a little rain keep him from his favorite theater." (To see, everybody's got it—the fever.)

There weren't many people out around Broadway and Fifth avenue and those streets, but as we ambled farther and farther east, the streets became fairly alive (canary) with them—and all of them apparently having the time of their lives, hatless, umbrellaless—some of them contless. Lesson for Bad Little Boys.

The next film shown, which had to do with a bad little boy, who stole cake and suffered thereby, provoked quite as much enthusiasm in its way, and, believe me, I learned a lot from the comment round me as to the way in which children should be brought up. During the first part of the picture, in which evil prospered and the little boy was happy, the children in the audience squealed and giggled—a giggle now and then stopping in mid-air, as it were—its cessation evidently due to the sudden descent of a parental hand; but as the reel progressed, depicting all the tortures of tummy ache, medicine, and remorse, the youthful element present lapsed into deep and painful silence and only the doubly triumphant remarks of the parents were to be heard. O, he had an awful time, that little Lubin boy, as the result of his sinning! Moral—never steal cake. Or if you must steal it—O, don't steal it—that's all.

We left after that film and spent a few minutes in several other little theaters. Then we got in our hansom, drove around through the Bowery and Chinatown; took in a Hungarian dance and came back to the hotel where my friend deposited me, disposed of the hansom, and took off his departure. Not a particularly brilliant example of success, but it was novel, and I thought you might like to hear about it. There's not a doubt but that the right kind of pictures are going to work wonders in the future education of the little children of the poor. Tonight I'm going to the Vitagraph theater and tomorrow I'm to spend the day at the plant. Here's hoping it doesn't rain or tidal wave or anything!

Mystery;

Disguise

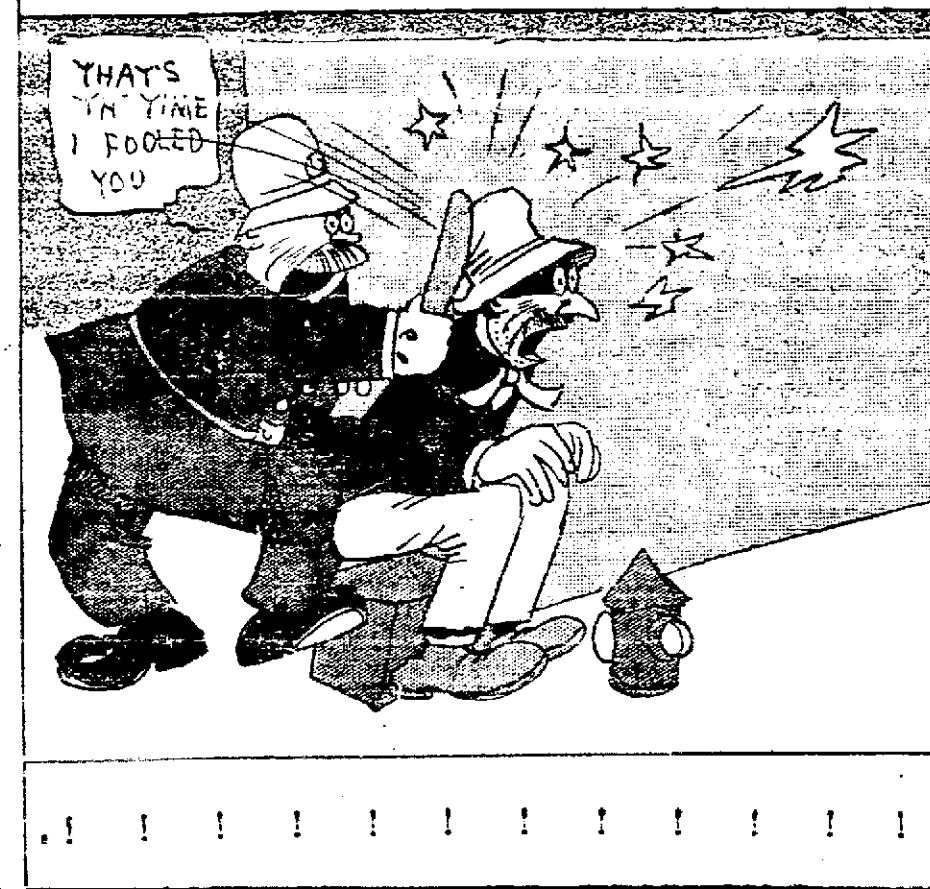

Pussyfoot Sam has accidentally run on a den of thieves. From their conversation they are the same gang that robbed the Powell mansion of its jewels.

Flushed, and perhaps a little overconfident at last week's success in disguising as a holdup, he has decided to try it again.

Luckily for Pussyfoot, he brought his makeup box with him. In ten minutes he emerged from the alley in complete disguise.

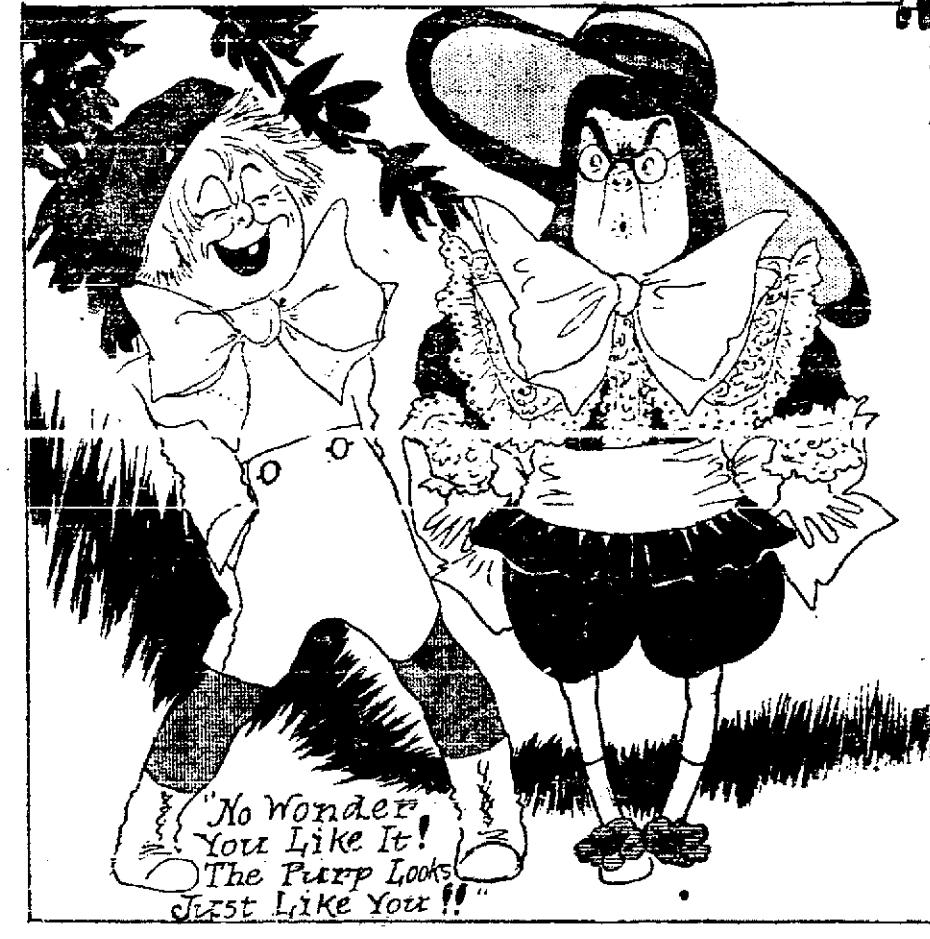

All that remained for him now was to wait for the robbers to come out. They would recognize him as one of their band, get chummy with him, and he would pinch them all!

So clever was his disguise that Adam Hess, the chief, did not even recognize him. It was a cruel blow to Pussyfoot's ambitions. True, luck seems against him, but he will not give up.

VERA CRUZ, April 25.—More than a score of American women with babies and children were turned back by Huerta's soldiers to face the mobs of Mexico City when they attempted to leave the riot-ridden capital on a refugee train that reached here this afternoon.

Huerta absolutely refused to allow any Americans to leave the city. Thirty Americans escaped, posing as British subjects under assumed names. They were afraid to speculate on the possible fate of those left behind.

The refugees said that Huerta's soldiers went through the train as it stood in the station and every one identified as an American was put on and ordered to remain.

Huerta's firm determination to hold the 800 American residents remaining there was shown by the fact that he insisted on strict identification of every passenger leaving to depart. He called Sir Lionel Carden and Paul von Hintz, German ambassadors, to go to the station to identify the refugees.

Carden has done everything possible to help the Americans and it was through his assistance that the thirty posing as English were able to escape. They all brought confirmation of the reports of anti-American rioting, evidently encouraged by Huerta.

GREATEST FEAR FEELS.

The gravest fear for Americans remaining in the capital was expressed.

Additional details of the measures taken by General Huerta to put all the Americans and other foreigners entirely within his power in the capital were learned today. Paul von Hintz, the German ambassador in Mexico City, defected to the embassy to demand the rifles the Germans have stored there.

"If you want these guns you will have to fight 300 Germans to get them," was the ambassador's reply to the demand. The soldiers argued no further and departed.

A committee of officers and citizens left here today to treat with General Maas, who is still at the head of the federal troops about 15 miles from the city, in an effort to arrange for the release of Americans marooned in interior cities and towns. Another effort will be made to persuade the Mexicans to agree to permit all Americans who desire to come to Vera Cruz. In return, all Mexicans wishing to leave here will be escorted outside the American lines and put aboard the trains bound for Mexico City or other interior points.

NATIVES TRANSFERRED.

Although Americans are now forbidden by Huerta to enter or leave the capital, Admiral Fletcher today sent a trainload of native refugees from Vera Cruz to Lejera, where they were transferred to a federal train.

The city was quiet today and further steps toward the restoration of normal conditions were taken by the American officers in the appointment of men from the ships to all municipal positions. The local officials finally refused to act for fear of the disappearance of Huerta.

Several arrests were made, as there was persistent "sniping" last night. One broadsword was found on the table while the cafes were filled with festive diners. There were no casualties, but many a dinner was left unfinished as civilians hurried away to their homes or the hotels, followed by the crack of rifles.

COMMISSARY BUSY.

Several hundred men have been hired by the naval officers at 60 cents a day to move naval stores and clean up the city. The commissary is feeding the natives. All commerce is in charge of Commander Sellers of the Arkansas.

The Mexican Daily Herald, formerly published in Mexico City by Paul J. Hudson, appeared here today. The paper was gotten out by its regular full staff. It dictated a local paper which came to publication today, claiming to have a report from the capital that four Americans had been killed there. Three, it was stated, had EL PASO, Texas, April 25.—Americans from Torreto have confirmed the report that an American, R. C. McDonald, was snatched by the Federalists at the first battle of San Pedro, the site of his first capture, and that he was marched through the streets and finally burned at the stake.

McDonald was more or less a fugitive at the time of the capture, having escaped the report that McDonald was tortured before being shot to death.

McDonald's body was found in Berkeley, Calif., and buried there on the 21st.

SAN DIEGO, April 25.—San Diego harbor is tonight emptied of United States war vessels for the first time in weeks. Every available naval vessel is already along the west coast of Mexico or is speeding there.

Six companies of regular Coast Artillery Corps are distributed along the border awaiting orders from Washington.

Two companies of state guards and one company of naval reserves are guarding the San Diego water system from any possible damage at the hands of the Mexicans.

ASSURED OF MORE.

Adjutant-General Forbes, at Sacramento, today assured the county supervisors here that more militia will be sent from the north if conditions become serious.

At Tia Juana and Tecate, the Mexican federal forces sent out the same word. They are prepared for an attack, but declare they will not take the aggressive.

An official estimate of the Mexican forces at Tia Juana and vicinity today placed the number at about 550. Of these, 250 are in the city and 400 in the mountains and behind the entrenchments just back of the city. Reinforcements were hourly expected from Ensenada.

Tijuana CUT OFF.

Tijuana was cut off from supplies today by order of Captain Condon of the regular army.

Crowds continued to flock to San Ysidro by automobiles in the hopes of seeing a battle from the hills above Tijuana.

No trains ran in or out of Mexico on the San Diego & Arizona railroad today. Conditions at the end of the line were not known. Americans are safe at Ensenada, it was reported.

Rumors of anti-American riots were denied. Governor Vasquez has guaranteed protection to Americans and the American flag, it is reported.

FATE OF EMBASSY IN DOUBT.

The fate of the American embassy was in doubt today. Bryan learned that O'Shaughnessy had not received instructions to turn it over to the Brazilian government and had, instead, relinquished it to Sir Lionel Carden, the British ambassador. Today conferences were held by Bryan with the British and Brazilian ambassadors to straighten out the tangle and bring the embassy into line.

More than 3000 refugees were aboard vessels in the gulf today en route to Galveston. About 1300 more will be taken from Mexico next week.

British Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice was informed here of the arrest of an Englishman, named Boyd, at Orizaba. He also told Secretary Bryan that Haerta is holding all Americans in Mexico City as hostages for the safety of Mexicans in Vera Cruz.

SUMMARIZING THE NEWS

Wholesale arrests and possible massacre of Americans and other refugees fleeing to Vera Cruz were reported. Some were taken from trains leaving for Mexico City. Four Americans were reported killed by mobs in the capital, but this report was not officially confirmed.

A reign of mob violence in Mexico City, threatening 800 Americans who were officially confirmed. Nineteen Americans and one Englishman were reported to have been taken from a train near Orizaba by federal soldiers. Consul Canada cabled that it was reported the party "may be executed."

REFUGEES EVICTED FROM TRAIN.

Ejection from a train of 125 refugees, men, women and children, at Tepic, leaving them stranded, destitute and liable to personal violence, was also reported. They have not been heard from since Tuesday or Wednesday.

All wires to Mexico City were said by Secretary Bryan to be down. Efforts were made to communicate by the wireless to the German embassy there.

This complete severance of communication, except roundabout through the British and Brazilian embassies, caused great concern. Bryan said no message had been received direct since O'Shaughnessy announced his departure.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Wilson, Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels conferred in the executive offices tonight until 10:15. At the end of the conference the secretaries said that they had merely laid before the President all of the dispatches at their disposal which dealt with the Mexican situation.

While they would not divulge the contents of these dispatches, it was learned that they emphasized the real peril of the Americans in all of Mexico; dwelt at great length on the anti-American feeling within the ranks of the Constitutionalists and explained how necessary it was that this government land men and take possession of the Tehuantepec railway.

President Wilson talked real war with his two heads of divisions. There was no attempt to disguise the seriousness of the entire situation. At the same time there was an optimism heretofore manifested by the President and Secretary Daniels, who believed that Huerta is only anxious for some excuse to save his own face.

The President went to bed at 10:30 and Secretary Tumulty went to his home, but both left word that they were to be awakened if anything serious developed.

DIPLOMATICS IN CONFERENCE.

Up to a late hour tonight the Brazilian, Chilean and Argentine diplomatic representatives were in conference at the home of the first named. The entire Mexican situation was gone into. Senor de Gama explained to his colleagues the bitter feeling that was manifested in Mexico City against the Americans and urged them to use every influence with their home government to force Huerta to make at least a semblance of concessions to the United States.

No member of the diplomatic corps of the three nations would discuss in any way what happened, but there was not one of them who evinced an optimistic frame of mind. As indicating little hope for the success of the mediation plan, was a statement from the White House tonight that nearly all retired officers of the United States service are to be called back to duty the next forty-eight hours.

Fired with ambition to emulate his distinguished brother, Major Smedley Butler of the marine corps, in charge of marines at Vera Cruz, Horace Butler, 29, a student at the University of Pennsylvania, will resign and enlist to fight in Mexico.

Butler says he will go as a Jackie, a marine or a stoker. Just so he smells gunpowder in Mexico," Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, father of the two, said today.

"YOUTHS WANT SERVICE."

Donald M. Clark, of the speaker, also declared today that he intends making service in Mexico.

Mexico and especially in the capital anxious officials here tonight were asking what the holiday season will be. Not in years has Washington been so stirred as it was today.

The stories of Americans dragged from trains and thrown into prison, of whole families maltreated because of their nationality, and of other Americans being held as hostages in case of reprisals by the United States, aroused the most bitter animosity here.

had the occasion to offer heretofore on the subject to the secretary to whom we renew the assurances of our highest and most distinguished consideration.

"EDO SUAREZ MAJICA."

PRESIDENT WANTS PEACE.

To this message President Wilson, through Secretary of State Bryan, sent the following reply:

"The government of the United States is deeply sensitive to the friendliness, good feeling and the generous concern for the peace and welfare of America manifested in the joint note received from your excellencies tendering the good offices of your government, to effect, if possible, a settlement of the present difficulties between the United States and those who now claim to represent our sister republic in Mexico."

"Conscious of the purpose with which the proffer is made, this government does not feel at liberty to decline it. Its own chief interest is in the peace of America, the cordial intercourse of her republics and her people, and the happiness and prosperity, which can spring only out of frank, mutual understanding and the friendship which is created by common purpose. The generous offer of your government is therefore accepted."

WILLINGNESS OF MEXICAN FACTION.

"The government hopes most earnestly that you may find those who speak for the several elements of the Mexican people willing and ready to discuss terms of satisfaction and, therefore, permanent settlement.

"If you should find them willing, this government will be glad to take up with you for discussion in the frankest and most conciliatory spirit any proposals that may be authoritatively formulated and will hope that they may prove feasible and prophetic of a new day of mutual cooperation and confidence in America."

AGGRESSION MAY INTERRUPT PLAN.

"This government feels bound in candor to say that its diplomatic relations with Mexico being for the present severed, it is not possible for it to make sure of an uninterrupted opportunity to carry out the plan of intercession which you propose."

"It is expected, of course, if possible, that some act of aggression on the part of those who control the military forces of Mexico might oblige the United States to act to the upsetting of the hopes of immediate peace, but this does not justify us in hesitating to accept your generous suggestion."

"We shall hope for the best result within a time brief enough to relieve our anxiety lest ill-considered hostile demonstrations should interrupt negotiations and disappoint our hopes of peace."

SOLONS ARE PUZZLED.

The complex language of the offer and acceptance puzzled even the members of the Senate and House foreign relations committees, who were consulted by the President before it was made public. The President explained that no definite offer had been made.

He told the senators and representatives that the three countries

Mexico, would ask Huerta whether he, too, will accept. The President would not venture a guess as to what Huerta's reply would be.

After leaving the executive offices Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the Senate committee, said:

"I hope that this may be a move of far-reaching importance. But, anyhow, it has enabled us to tell the people of the world, and especially the Latin-American nations, that the United States has nothing but the purest motives in what it has done and that there is no plan of territorial aggrandizement hidden in our massing of the army and navy of the United States."

"But it is just as well to let it be known here and now that this country has not the slightest intention of holding hostages and we do ourselves and those nations honor in accepting it."

POLICY NOT CHANGED.

Representative Flood of Virginia, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, echoed Stone's sentiments.

"This offer does not change our policy of aggression in the slightest degree," he said. "Of course, if Huerta, realizing that he is facing defeat, wants to accept this offer as a means of getting out of his present predicament, it will be glad news to us. But if the reports of Americans held hostage are true—and I believe they are—the situation will not change and we are bound by only the spirit of our acceptance. We will otherwise, from Mexico. But Huerta and all he represents must go, and the Mexican people must come into their own."

THE BULK OF THE SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES did not believe this possible. They argued that the latest advice from interior Mexico and especially from Mexico City, pointed to the contrary. There was hardly a man here in Washington who did not feel that when the story of today and tomorrow is recorded it will be one of outrage that will force our hand.

Railroad Men Will Form Company for Mexican Campaign

A "railroadmen's company," formed of railroad and ex-railroadmen of the bay region, who have, in such employment, been in Mexico and know the country, is now being drilled and will be ready, according to its leaders, to report for duty if called upon at any moment. The company already numbers a full 40 men.

The railroadmen are many of them employed on the Southern Pacific, Oakland, Antioch and Eastern and Western Pacific roads. All have seen at least a year in Mexico. In different portions of the country, and are thoroughly conversant with topography, people and fighting conditions there.

The company is led by William Nod, James Kiel and W. W. Lawson. Temporary headquarters, where men are being recruited and where the business of the company is being transacted, have been established at 4119 Opal street.

ENTIRE NAVY READY

Many Orders Received at Mare Island to Prepare for Action

MARE ISLAND, April 25.—Changing the orders of the auxiliary cruiser Puffin, which it had been planned to have at Alameda, was an urgent instruction from the Navy Department at Washington that forced restrictions for the vessel to prepare at once for a trip to Mexico. It will join the United States.

This order, it is declared by naval officers, indicates that the entire fighting strength of the navy is to be sent to Mexican waters at once, in preparation for possible serious trouble there. The order, Cleveland said, was issued from Mexico and the cruiser St. Louis will arrive at the yards here tomorrow to coal and receive supplies before also starting south to the point of trouble.

The cruiser Charleston and Chattanooga, now at Bremerton, are to be sent to San Francisco to join the Puffin and any drop in here to coal on the way.

MANY ORDERS RECEIVED.

The Albany on the way south from Puget Sound is sighted by the American-Hawaiian Frischer Georgina, according to reports received at the yard today, and is speeding toward Mazatlan. The other Prometheus, now being converted, will be sent later as a repair ship as soon as equipped. Orders to expense $70,000 in repairing the collier Nashua were received here today. Orders were also received to repair the supply ship Glacier for a trip, and the collier Nero nearly ready.

An entire company of marines is being up-armed at the yards under command of Lieutenant Harold Pratt. The West Virginia, St. Louis and other ships will, according to orders, be stocked in full with supplies and ammunition.

VICKSBURG CONVERTED.

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 25.—Following receipt of orders from the Navy Department, Governor Lester this afternoon had all state property removed from the gunboat Vicksburg and turned the vessel over to the commandant of the Bremerton navy yard. The Vicksburg was being converted to a naval militia. The governor also wired the Navy Department offering the services of the naval militia if needed in the Far East.

ARRIVE AT GUAYMAS.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The gunboat Yorktown and the Mexican gunboat Cuernero have arrived at Guaymas, according to the Navy Department.

Accused of Desertion; Left Wife on Visit

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Henry V. Vocke, a wealthy grocer and manager, is accused of abandonment by his wife Edith, in a warrant sworn out yesterday. Mrs. Vocke left San Francisco on Tuesday and accompanied her husband to Alameda to visit his nephew. Shortly after their arrival Vocke left, saying he would return at 5 o'clock. He did not appear and his wife became uneasy. It is claimed that he returned to his home, 3591 Eighteenth street, San Francisco, packed up his belongings and left.

Mrs. Vocke declares that she was left penniless, although her husband had more than $10,000. She asserts that a friend, acting in behalf of her husband, offered her $30,000 if she would leave him, but she refused.

The number of mentally deficient victims of the drink habit was 771 in 1911, showing that insanity in general as well as hereditary insanity, is increasing. The combination of alcohol and strenuous life of the cities, among the reasons given for the enormous number of cases of hereditary insanity.

WALTER HOBART STOCKS FIRM IN NEW YORK MARKET

Clubman and Polo Star Claims Mrs. Flora Magee as Bride

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—News was received here today of the marriage in New York of Walter Hobart, wealthy clubman and polo player, and Mrs. Flora Dean Magee, divorced wife of Walter Magee, a local realty broker and prominent citizen.

The final decree of divorce was granted Mrs. Hobart recently in the local Superior court. Mrs. Magee left San Francisco some weeks ago and went to the home of her sister, F. B. Huntington, in New York. A previous arrangement had been made for the wedding as soon as the coast was clear so far as legal formalities were concerned, and following the ceremony today the couple left for home. Mrs. Magee prior to her first marriage was Miss Flora Dean. She was prominent in society and was wedded while still in the ranks of the debutantes.

However, the foreign markets were more unsettled than the New York exchange, due to the heavy holdings of American stocks by foreign buyers. The Emperor Francis Joseph was a tributary influence in unbalancing the foreign markets and the unloading of futures for foreign account was a chief source of the decline. Wealthy conditions were favorable to crops, but other factors were against them. Freight cars increased largely. Prices of copper and some steel products were shoddy, money rates tightened, and foreign exchange rose to the highest quotations of the year.

NEW YORK, April 25.—After a day of speculation, passed mainly upon preparations of the United States for war with Mexico stocks closed mixed.

The New York stock market was upset this day, by the outbreak of hostilities in Mexico, and the market was in a state of great uncertainty.

The decline, which began two weeks ago, was accelerated, and many low records for the year were made in stocks which were under press.

'DEAD' MAN HEARS FAITHLESS WIFE

Grewsome Ruse Wins Suspicious Husband His Divorce Decree.

STOCKHOLM, April 25.—How a suspicious trick was played by a suspicious man to obtain evidence against his wife was revealed in court today in the divorce proceedings brought by Karl Petersen, a wealthy merchant who feigned death and while lying in his coffin heard his wife confess her love for another.

When his wife, a hardened woman whom he married a year ago, Petersen went to his country house and there persuaded his doctor to telegraph his death.

Mrs. Petersen hurried to his husband's bedside, apparently greatly distressed, and in the dim light of the room failed to see that he was still alive.

Next day the doctor pronounced him dead and in due course Petersen was placed in a coffin in a room where a number of his friends had been invited. On being left alone with the supposed corpse, the widow rang up one of her husband's closest friends and, in her husband's absence, joyfully announced the news of his death.

The treacherous friend soon arrived upon the scene and was in the act of embracing the faithless wife, when the supposed corpse sprang from the coffin to confront them.

The guilty couple were unable to deny Petersen's evidence and the court granted the decree.

EIFFEL TOWER IN SILVER JUBILEE SURPRISES SEEN IN BIG TOURNAMENT

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Exposition Attraction Reaches Hostile Criticism.

PARIS, April 26.—The Eiffel tower has been celebrating its silver jubilee. On April 2, just 25 years ago, the French flag was hoisted on its summit. It was the principal attraction of the exposition of 1889. Both at the time of its erection and afterwards it was the subject of hostile criticism on the part of artists and men of letters. The composer, Charles Gounod, the great poet, Leconte de Lisle, Sully Prudhomme, Francis Coppée, the novelist, Guy Maupassant, united in protesting against the disfigurement of Paris by a structure which would not be tolerated even by commercial America. Other critics declared that it would not last 20 years, but it is today as strong as ever to vindicate its creators, the symbol and triumph of modern industry. For the Eiffel tower was the pioneer of the light metallic construction which makes possible by its suppleness and enormous strength the most daring conceptions of the architect and engineer.

The famous tower is indeed a miracle of lightness with 7,000 tons of metal, as a simple calculation shows. If a model on the scale of one-thousandth were made it would weigh 15 ounces, the weight of a thick sheet of paper.

At first hardly more than an engineering curiosity, the Eiffel tower found its vocation when wireless telegraphy was invented. Now the correct time and a budget of the latest news is flashed from it twice daily to ships at sea and far-off French colonies in Africa.

Miss Lorenz Is a Fatalist Has Premonition of End

MISS LORENA LORENZ, WHO DEFIES THE FATE THAT TOOK LIFE OF FIANCÉ

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—With her third opportunity to forsake the dangerous vocation of riding a diving horse eliminated by the death of her fiancée, who was slain by a lion, Miss Lorenz Lorenz, "The Girl in Red," at a local theater, today became a fatalist.

She said Dr. Kirby had a premonition of his death and she believes her future is decided. She declared she will never again plan to give up her work and she will face whatever fate awaits her in the firm belief that it cannot be avoided. She will go to San Bernardino this week to train diving horses.

LION KILLS FIANCÉ.

Miss Lorenz was to have married Dr. W. W. Kirby, the man who died of injuries received at Universal City last week, when attacked by a lion he was leading into a moving picture drama.

Miss Lorenz said today: "I believe I am destined to live a dangerous life and my end will probably be in keeping with my work. For many years I have ridden horses saddleless and bridleless in spectacular dives from elevated platforms into tanks of water. A few years ago I decided to enter a convent. I was stricken ill and while in a hospital members of my family induced me to change my mind. Then my father in San Francisco asked me to join him and we would go East and I could quit my dangerous occupation.

TRUSTS HER HORSES.

"I trusted my father was taken ill. Later events compelled us to give up our plan.

"Then I met Dr. Kirby. He persuaded me to promise to marry him. I did so. We planned to go to New York. Early last week he dreamed that he was slain by a lion in a wild animal hunt. He told me I must stop diving, as he believed the dream was about me. I laughed at him—he was killed.

"I shall keep up my work. I shall trust my horses to dive safely. Roses, for some peculiar reason, seem to cast a feeling of safety over me, so I shall continue the cultivation of my favorite variety."

GIRLS GIGGLE AT SOCKS SENSITIVE COP BLUSHES

"Bill" Kyle, police inspector, is naturally sensitive, he says, and that's why, when several pretty girls sitting opposite him on a Telegraph-avenue car as he was coming to work yesterday, giggled, he became embarrassed. It wasn't until he arrived at the city hall, however, that he discovered the cause, and the result was a hurried trip home for nothing more than one brown sock. The color scheme of one red one and one brown one, donned in the half-light of early morning, tickled the risibilities of the girls, the police sergeants, and others, and it was this that shocked the sensitive nature boasted by the detective.

Kyle had set his alarm clock for an early hour that he might do extra work at the office. He didn't realize that he had socks of various colors until he had displayed two of them, worn after the fashion of Joseph's coat.

COP AS COOK.

His case was not the only one that cast light on the hard lives of policemen yesterday. Lieutenant William Wood, whose wife is out of town, when not acting as a guardian of the law, is preparing food for a small daughter he has at home. This week an apron Wood has one. He wore it, and being in a hurry to go to work after preparing daughter's breakfast, put on his overcoat and fared forth. When he arrived the overcoat in the inspector's room, the cook's apron came to light. Now his old nickname of "foot" is dropped and they're calling him "Cook" instead.

NEW PHYSIOLOGICAL LORE.
Physiology isn't a long suit of applicants for office, according to the examination papers in the hands of the Civil Service Commission. One set, in particular, was particularly rich in new and remarkable definitions of things that are about the human anatomy. Among the answers received are some like this:

"Digestion is accomplished by the bowels, of which there are five." A. F. O. U.

"The spine is a continuation of the neck and serves as a framework for the bones. It is useful for breaking in a man."

although he operates a laundry for a living. He appeared yesterday at the city hall to request a license. He applied to the office of Lieutenant William Wood.

"Likem catchmen license, Charley?" pleasantly inquired the officer.

"Your language," responded Nim, "leads me to believe that you consider me one of my poor benighted countrymen instead of one versed in the lore of Rabekel, Shakespeare, and the other authors with whom I believe you yourself have a reading acquaintance. I am afraid that my lack of comprehension of the vernacular of the English language will not permit me to understand the colloquialisms with which you seek to make my countrymen understand English. I believe that we can get along better in the language of this glorious land."

"Third door to the right," snapped the lieutenant.

NEW PHYSIOLOGICAL LORE.

Physiology isn't a long suit of applicants for office, according to the examination papers in the hands of the Civil Service Commission. One set, in particular, was particularly rich in new and remarkable definitions of things that are about the human anatomy. Among the answers received are some like this:

"Digestion is accomplished by the bowels, of which there are five." A. F. O. U.

"The spine is a continuation of the neck and serves as a framework for the bones. It is useful for breaking in a man."

"Drinking causes a rush of blood to the head, and a rush of drunks to the police station."

HIS SHORT REPORT.

The Northern Miner, published weekly by Captain Lynch, is famed for its long and explicit reports. Captain Lynch is a master of and prolific producer of English, and every time he arrests a man every detail, such as the precise way the man folded his hands, and the way he stood, is noted. Testimony he filed the first short report in the history of the Northern station. It read as follows:

"Chief of Police, Oakland, Cal.: In order to apprise you of things station, and reports on the events in that place between the hours of 12 m. and 12 p. m. of this date, I beg to submit for your approval the following:

"Yes, yes," said the Judge: "go on."

"I'll do it for the Judge. He's a nice man," said the witness.

"But I won't do it for Hennessy."

"This case was brought in for trial next week and we will have to wait for the trial."

BIG FAREWELL OF SHRINERS PLANNED

Commercial Club Completes Plans for Royal Goodbye to Pilgrims

Joining in the most enthusiastic leave-taking that has been accorded to any departing delegates, 1700 Shriners and members of the Oakland Commercial Club will assemble tomorrow night in the Ivory ballroom of the Hotel Oakland for a reception and farewell smoker to the pilgrims who set forth next Saturday on the long caravan route to the Imperial

JOURNEY BEAR IN THEIR BREASTS THE DETERMINATION TO BRING THE MOUNTAIN TO OAKLAND—SECURE FOR OAKLAND THE MEETING OF THE IMPERIAL COUNCIL IN 1914. IT IS TO SPREAD THEM FORWARD WITH THE ENCOURAGEMENT AND GOOD WISHES OF THOSE WHO REMAIN THAT THE COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS ARRANGED A ROYAL GOOD-BYE.

The combined bands and patrols of Shriners Temple of Oakland and Islam Temple of San Francisco in full regalia will open the festivities with a concert and exhibition drill in the spacious ballroom. Military evolutions of the perfectly trained teams will alternate with classical numbers by the bands and the orchestra of the Hotel Oakland. A feature of this formal program will be the rendition of "I Love You, California" by Mrs. F. W. Laufer, a vocalist well known in the city for her artistry. Al Larsen, leader of Islam Temple patrol, will sing "My Own United States." Solo numbers will be given by Madame DeLuna, a soprano of note, who has recently arrived here from Europe.

Following this portion of the evening's entertainment a buffet lunch and refreshments will be served as an interlude before the smoker. When the cigars and cigarettes are alight and the opal haze starts adrift the mirth and merriment will begin. An elaborate program of "stunts" has been prepared and the playhouses have been requisitioned to give of their best to supplement local talent.

Among the features which will be supplied by local amateurs are monologues by Milton Schwartz, Max Horwitski and Dave McLaughlin; an exhibition of prestidigitation by H. S. Bell, and character impersonations by Johnny Rose. Al Jolson, leading comedian of "The Honeymoon Express," will come from the Macdonough theater with members of his company, and acts will be staged from the Orpheum, Pantages, the Columbia and Dorothy theaters.

The affair will be the most pretentious of its kind ever held in Oakland. The entertainment committee, in charge, is composed of E. P. Miller, Louis Aber, Herman Rittigstein, C. C. Porton, G. C. Parley, P. E. Crabtree, Alex. T. Stewart, J. R. D. Mackenzie and Maurice Stewart.

SURPRISES AS A DEBATER ABLY ARGUES TOLL BILL

While playing with her dolls little Jane Howard, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Howard of Kempton avenue, discusses the Panama toll bill, which is now being considered by congressmen and senators. Before a body of about 50 boy and girls of the seventh grade of the Grant school she presented her views upon the toll system in a heated debate. It was her first appearance as a debater and she surprised her classmates, who were keenly interested in her remarks, which would have reflected credit upon a more matured intellect. Though she is only 12 years of age Jane is already a student of civic affairs and does not fear to talk about the toll bill, which she has studied very carefully. She is unusually bright in her schoolastic work and leads her class. Unlike her classmates, Jane loves to engage in the serious branches and is very conservative in her opinion upon current topics.

In speaking of the toll treaty Jane has expressed the following version:

"By treaty we have agreed to allow the vessels of all the nations of the world to pass through the canal on equal terms, but at the same time the canal was really built for our trade and our military protection by our men and with our money."

"Our previous treaties with England and the foreign nations agreed that the canal was to be open on terms of equality. The interpretation of these treaties and their exact meaning have been the cause of many disputes over the toll rates on the Panama canal. The American people as a whole believe they are interpreting the treaties correctly when they allow foreign ships to pass through the canal on the same terms as our own ships engaged in foreign trade."

"If at the time the treaties were made England had announced her interpretation of them as applying to our coastwise as well as to our foreign shipping the American people would have repudiated them."

"And why now should we permit a construction to be placed upon them that was plainly no part of the signers' intentions."

"The American people as a whole have already expressed themselves through Congress and the two political parties in favor of free tolls for coastwise shipping. Protectionist Wilson and the present congress have almost abolished the protective tariff on many products, such as prunes, raisins from Spain and citrus fruits from Cuba, Mexico and Porto Rico, so that they now can be brought into our eastern states with very little freight charges. But they have left in full force the protective conditions surrounding American labor employed in shipping."

"Under such conditions it is plainly their duty to retain, if possible, for these Pacific coast products the markets of the eastern states through the assistance to our shipping of free toll."

NAVY YARD EMPLOYEE IN JAIL ON BIGAMY CHARGE

NAPA, April 25.—Elmer Blount, an employee at the Mare Island navy yard and a resident of Napa, was arrested for bigamy and is now in the county jail.

Blount was placed under bonds for $600, which he was unable to furnish.

It is alleged that Blount married a Miss Flynn in San Francisco some time ago, and on March 1, 1914, married a Miss Maud B. Smith of Napa. Blount claims he is innocent of any intent to do wrong, believing his first wife dead.

The first wife appeared here the other day and caused the arrest.

HER WHOOPING-COUGH TOO MUCH FOR SUNDAY

SCRANTON, Pa., April 25.—Because a middle-aged woman brought a well-developed case of whooping cough with her to the tabernacle this afternoon and set the cough against the Rev. Billy Sunday's preaching, the evangelist threatened to call off the meeting.

Three times he got started in his sermon and at each start the whoop of the woman drowned out his voice. Billy raised the platform and finally sat down.

The woman declined to leave the tabernacle and her answer to the evangelist's pleading was a series of whoops. Ushers finally surrounded her and convinced her that there would be no sermon while she was whooping it up. She then left the building. Sunday went on with her sermon.

RICHARD STRAUSS IS GRACEFUL DANCER

BERLIN, Germany, April 25.—Richard Strauss, the versatile, has added another accomplishment to his list. Besides being a first class composer, pianist, orchestra conductor, business man, he has recently shown himself to be a dancer. During the rehearsals with the Russian Ballet of his latest composition, a ballet entitled "The Legend of Joseph," Herr Strauss was unable to make Michel Fokin, the leading dancer, understand the correct interpretation. In despair he left the piano at which he was playing the accompaniment, took off his coat and went through the action himself. The ballet will be produced soon in Paris.

MISS BOOTH WILL BE NURSE IN SLUMS

NEW YORK, April 25.—Miss Theodore Booth, daughter of Maud Ballington Booth, is going to be a nurse in the slums of New York.

Miss Booth is a graduate of National Park Seminary, an exclusive girls' college in Maryland, where she excelled in athletics and displayed literary ability. She will not forsake literature and music as avocations, but the serious work of her life will be devoted to helping the world's unfortunate.

She will begin as a nurse in an emergency hospital at the foot of Brooklyn where business houses of the city are given charitable attention.

SHERLOCK IN REAL CRIME PROBLEM

Conan Doyle Seeking to Unfasten Murder Charge From Oscar Slater.

LONDON, April 25.—Sherlock Holmes is again on the trail. The great detective has become a crime problem in real life quite as interesting as any he ever solved in fiction. But in the present instance he is endeavoring to unfasten the crime from the men, instead of following the more fascinating pursuit of fitting the man to the crime. If Oscar Slater:

head prison, where he is serving a life sentence on the charge of murdering an old woman in Glasgow more than five years ago, he will owe his freedom to the creator of the wrinkled-browed, pipe-smoking, dole-taking sleuth of Baker street.

So impressed has been McKinnon Wood, secretary for Scotland, with the deductions made by Sir Conan Doyle, based solely on the evidence brought to open up a special inquiry into the Slater case. Already Doyle has succeeded in convincing most of the British public that the prisoner whose neck was saved by a commutation of sentence only 24 hours before the time set for the execution, had been the victim of gross miscarriage of justice.

DETAILS OF CRIME

At 7 o'clock on the evening of December 21, 1908, a man named Adams, residing in a ground floor flat in Queen's Terrace, Glasgow, heard a thud on the floor above, followed by faint knockings. The second story flat was occupied by a wealthy but friendless maiden lady, Marion Gilchrist, aged 62, who sometime before had arranged with Adams that she would run on the floor if she ever needed assistance. Adams rushed up the stairs and rang the doorbell vigorously but got no response. While peering through the glass into the lighted hallway he was joined by Miss Gilchrist's maid, who had left the flat only 10 minutes before to get the evening papers. As she opened the door, a man stepped out of the back room, nodded pleasantly to Adams and the girl, and hastily descended the stairs. On reaching the dining-room they found Miss Gilchrist's body lying on the floor, her skull battered as if with repeated blows of a hammer. Adams rushed out into the street, but the stranger had disappeared.

EXTRADITED FROM NEW YORK. Of the $15,000 worth of jewelry which Miss Gilchrist kept in the flat, much of which was exposed on the dresser in her bedroom, only a single diamond brooch was missing, but a box of private papers had been forced open and its contents scattered about the floor. Two days later a messenger girl told the police that she had seen a man leave the street entry to Miss Gilchrist's flat about 7 o'clock, but she gave a description differing materially from that given by Adams and the maid. On Christmas night the police learned that a German Jew named Oscar Slater had been about town trying to sell a pawn ticket for a diamond brooch. In the meantime he had left for Liverpool, and the next day sailed for America on the Lusitania. On a cabled request from the Glasgow authorities he was arrested in New York. He protested his innocence vigorously and denied any knowledge of Miss Gilchrist. The maid and the messenger girl, sent over for the extradition proceedings, notwithstanding their varying descriptions, "identified" him. Later at the trial in Glasgow, both their stories differed in essential points from those they first told. In the face of this discrepancy and the strainable evidence adduced by the defense, Slater was convicted and sentenced to be hanged, nine of the Scotch jury voting "guilty," five "not proven," and one "not guilty"—a decision that in the English courts would have resulted in a new trial.

CONAN DOYLE'S DEDUCTIONS.

The most extraordinary feature of the case, however, was the development that the diamond brooch which Slater had pawned was not the one stolen from the murdered woman and that he had pawned it several weeks before the murder had been committed. It is on this circumstance that Doyle mainly bases his belief in Slater's innocence. Assuming for a moment that he was guilty," says Sir Arthur, "you are faced with the incredible coincidence that the police got hold of the right man by mistake. It is only human nature that once having arrested a man they should proceed to build up their case on other and secondary points after being com-

BROTHERS IN WAR INVOKING COURTS

Two Suits Are Brought Involving Large Steel Corporation

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The large steel corporation of George W. Pennington Sons is involved in two separate suits in which brother is arrayed against brother, and which resulted in an application for a restraining order and injunction filed in the Superior Court here yesterday. The plaintiff is George Pennington, superintendent of the concern. He charged his brother, Thomas, the president of the company, with gross mismanagement, usurped authority, misappropriation of funds, the violation of the by-laws of the corporation, interfering with the conduct of the company's business, and wasting other subs.

The plant which is a large one occupies

$1,000,000 at West and North Market street, employs a great many workmen. George Pennington, who owns 10,495 shares out of 12,500 shares of the capital stock, "as trustee defendant" in a suit brought by Thomas Pennington last week, the object of which, attorney says, was to evict him from his business.

Now he brings a counter suit, naming the sensational charges against his brother, and declares that April a bodyguard took charge, discharged George Pennington's son, and coincidentally became the new general superintendent. He asserts that Pennington has employed police officers to enforce his authority. He charges, further, that Pennington transferred to his own name and a new account $3000 of the corporation's money.

It is since October 13 he says he has demanded that Pennington call a meeting of the board of directors but has been given no satisfaction.

According to Attorney Arthur Barndt, who represents George Pennington, the trouble between the brothers is result of a feud over the estate of their mother, Mary Emma Pennington, who died November 1, 1912.

'PHONE' BURGLAR WORKED PIEDMONT

Harry McDonald Confesses and Tells How He Passed Up Booty

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Harry McDonald, alias Harry Morgan, the "telephone burglar," proved himself to be a thief with a conscience right when in the course of his confession to the police he declared that he had not ransacked the home of L. G. McDonald, 55 Cerititas Avenue, because his intended victim bore the same name as his own.

"I had forced the side window with a jimmy and climbed into the unoccupied room," declared McDonald, "when I saw some letters showing that the owner had my name. I didn't want to rob a namesake, and I figured also that he might be a relative."

McDonald's admissions, made to Detectives Suttnar and McGrath, show that he had ransacked four homes in Piedmont and five in the Ingleside district here. He denies the shooting of Policeman Louis La Place, who received a bullet wound while chasing a burglar last week.

As the result of McDonald's confession, the police arrested Joseph Grant, 2246 Mission street, Morris Green, 927 Mission street, and Joseph Liberman, 1524 Ellis street, and charged them with receiving stolen goods. They are alleged to have purchased the loot taken by the burglar.

WOMAN AND BABY ARE OCCUPYING JAIL CELL

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Mrs. Mary Pachaco, a wealthy Hanford woman and owner of a ranch there, was arrested by Detective Cashel today and brought to this city on a charge of passing a fictitious check for $50. The complainants are the Tat Sing Company, 1116 Grant avenue, who claim that the check was given them in payment of a bill for groceries. Mrs. Pachaco declared that the check was given to her in payment of an obligation and that she was given permission to keep her 18-months-old daughter with her in the city prison until she can raise bail.

The spectacle of a mother and her babe occupying a cell is an unusual one in the prison and much sympathy was expressed for the woman who protests absolute innocence of wrongdoing.

SOLDIER IS ROBBED PREPARING FOR TRIP

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—White William M. Cullum, wagon train master of the Sixth Infantry, U. S. Army, was busily engaged in superintending the moving of his section of the marching column, which left early today for the battlefield, some one robbing him of his sarcins. Currency to the amount of $300 and valuable papers which he carried in an epaulette were taken from his knapsack. The theft was reported to the police just as Cullum left the Southern Pacific station with his regiment.

Mr. Phillips had Stomach Trouble for More than Five Years.

CLUBWOMEN ARE ACTIVE IN PROGRAM OF THE WEEK

MISS GLADYS GERRISH, who danced for the Oakland Club last Wednesday.

Mr. W. R. Phillips, Jr., 139 Moreland ave., Atlanta, Georgia, writes: "I had the catarrh and stomach trouble for more than five years, and I faithfully tried all the medicines I saw advertised, and found they all failed to cure me. I then heard of Peruna. I purchased six bottles, and after their use I soon discovered that I was well, safe and sound. I now weigh two hundred and ten pounds, and have never been sick since I took Peruna. It surely is the best medicine for colds, stomach trouble and catarrh that I ever heard of."

Our files abound with testimonials of people who have been the victims of stomach trouble. Peruna seems to be peculiarly adapted to these cases. In no class of human ailments are our testimonials more enthusiastic and numerous than in cases of stomach ailments. Some of these are slight, giving rise to ordinary indigestion. Others are serious, reducing the patient to almost a skeleton. Peruna, because of its tonic laxative qualities, seems to be specifically adapted to catarrh of the stomach and similar ailments.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

CLUB PASSES ON NEW WATER DISTRICT PLAN

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Vernon Improvement Club of Oakland, held Wednesday evening, a resolution was adopted by the club opposing the formation of the proposed water district comprising Oakland and adjacent territory, at this time.

The club also unanimously endorsed as economical and commendable the proposition of Oakland and the communities, comprising the proposed water district, joining with San Francisco to obtain their supply of water from the Hetch Hetchy water supply under a mutually agreeable and equitable arrangement.

Plans for an active campaign were inaugurated by the club to accomplish this purpose and ways and means provided to vigorously contend for the object of the resolutions as adopted.

CHERRY CROP NORMAL.

CHICO, April 25.—The cherry crop in the Chico section will this year be almost up to the normal. While in some instances the trees show signs of not carrying the usual number of berries, as a whole conditions are encouraging. Buying has commenced and prices are fair. The crop on the Bidwell orchards has been contracted for by E. T. Reynolds & Son. Other deals for the season's crop have been made, and the grower will, as a rule, fare exceedingly well this year.

TALKS ON TEETH BY Dr. J. B. SCHAFHIRT

Good Teeth---Efficiency

The U. S. Government will not admit recruits nor re-enlist men either in the army or navy whose teeth are in bad shape. Public schools are instituting children's teeth being in good condition, and progressive employers are beginning to notice the condition of their employees' mouths.

Why is this? It is not so much the appearance of the individual as the fact that no one can do his best work if his faculties are impaired in any way.

You probably wonder what the teeth have to do with one's eyesight, hearing, etc. Few people realize the important part the teeth play in their health. They surely affect the eyes, ears, stomach and incisor muscles. Before consulting a physician in regard to sore eyes, earache, indigestion or neuralgia, come to my office and let me examine your teeth, and many times you will find that they have been causing all the trouble.

My prices are not cheap, nor are they fancy. All I desire is a fair profit on a volume of work. This is no dental company, but one well-regulated office for people who appreciate good work at a fair price.

Send for my booklet, which tells you how to take care of your teeth. It is FREE.

Dr. J. B. SCHAFHIRT

ELECTRIC LINE MERGER, RUMOR

Inspection of Stockton Lines Leads to Report of Big Deal.

STOCKTON, April 25.—Paul Shoup, president of the electric lines of the Southern Pacific system, Herbert Fleishhacker, vice-president of the Central California Traction line; F. W. Webster, general manager of the Southern Pacific street car lines in Stockton, Visalia and Fresno, and C. H. Robertson, general manager of the Traction lines, made a joint tour of the city lines of the two systems this week.

There has always been more or less talk about the Southern Pacific buying the city lines of the Traction company in Stockton, and according to reports a deal has been pending for some time, there being a disagreement between the Fleishhacker and the Southern Pacific.

General Manager C. H. Robertson, whose headquarters are in Stockton, states that the meeting of President Shoup and vice-President Fleishhacker was quite accidental. Shoup was on his way to Sacramento and met Fleishhacker on the train and was persuaded by the latter to come to Stockton and look over the two lines together.

"Mr. Fleishhacker had not ridden in one of the new cars yet, so they just took one out and he and Mr. Shoup, Mr. Webster and I just rode around in one for a while."

"Then, I suppose, after Mr. Fleishhacker had taken a ride on Mr. Shoup's line, Mr. Shoup went over and took a ride on the Traction line."

"That's it," said General Manager Robertson.

This, perhaps, explains the presence of the two heads of the two systems in Stockton and their joint tour of inspection of the two lines.

STOCKTON HOTEL IS SOLD TO MERCED MAN

STOCKTON, April 25.—Senator J. T. Lewis and C. A. Barling have announced the sale of the new five-story Hotel Bruno building at the southwest corner of Main and Stanislaus streets, to Hal S. Shafer, district attorney of Merced county.

Local contractors constructed this building during 1912 at a time when it was the judgment of many of the local citizens that a property of that size located so far east as Main and Stanislaus streets would be a losing investment. However, the entire property was leased long before its completion and it has paid good returns since. The sale at a figure said to be above $100,000 surely represents an elegant profit for the owners.

The purchaser is enthusiastic over his buy, and states that the property in his judgment will bring $125,000 before the close of 1916. Shafer is a close observer of real estate, out of which he has made a considerable fortune in the last few years. Besides being a part owner in the Farmers and Merchants Bank and building of Merced, he holds valuable property in Los Angeles and San Francisco. He is connected with some of the well-known concerns on the coast, including a large company of oak.

BOUND FOR RIVERSIDE.

Among the dignitaries invited to the California State Federation of Women's Clubs meeting at Riverside this coming week is Mrs. G. W. Harrison of the Oakland Club. Together with about 40 other ladies, all delegates from the various clubs of the state, she will leave on Monday for the South.

The club luncheon was largely social in nature, though at its close the visiting committee presented a check for the amount of $100 to Mrs. Helen Kimball of Oakland, the now preceding officer.

Contrary to expectation, few club women from the Bay Region other than Miss Harrison will attend the convention, so the meeting chartered a special train to San Francisco.

There is no lack of interest in the gathering, but there are countless other matters demanding attention at home.

There are few cases of nominating committees failing to make a head start and meeting in more or less political will be avoided in. However, practically all the leading clubs have decided the vexed question of leadership and installed officers for the ensuing year.

EBELL ACHIEVEMENTS.

Early in the month, as customary, the Ebell Club of this city decided upon officers for the year of 1913, and the new president, Mrs. Edwin G. Owen, together with her advisory board, was installed at a brilliant luncheon.

In reviewing the achievements of this club members are impressed by the forward strides taken during the past years during Mrs. A. C. Posey's reign as president. Primarily a study club, Ebell has, as recalled by the retiring president's address, furnished the city of Oakland with a central place for educational and social life.

Among other items arousing favorable comment are the expenditures that the society now over $5,000 of stock in the Ebell Building Association, whose present indebtedness is something less than two thousand dollars.

STILL ANOTHER PETITION.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy, of which Mrs. Frederick G. Harrison is president, is among the organizations which have petitioned the City Council to purchase "The Heights," home of the late post, Joaquin Miller. Many years ago in a newspaper interview which was given wide publicity, Mr. Miller declared that his desire with which he was then associated was to have "the house that rocks the cradle is the house that rocks the world," the influence of the mothers is almost beyond estimation.

Covering topics relating to cities in general and Alameda county and the city of Oakland, the club has more than a hundred women—certainly more than a possible dozen men, assembled in the rooms of the Hotel Oakland on Friday afternoon to listen to Mayor Mott as he started off on his tour of inspection.

Contrary to the general opinion, the club luncheon was the most interesting address made by candidates for county superintendents of schools—Miss Dougherty, Miss Blanche Morse, Mr. George Frick, the present incumbent, and Mr. Percy, principal of the Grant school.

DISCUSS WATER DISTRICT.

At a meeting of the Oakland water department, held on Friday, the water rates for the fifth of May, the audit committee, and the auditor, will be discussed, and the auditor will be present.

On the fourth Friday the Center will elect a new set of officers.

At the meeting of Friday Mrs. L. H. Eastman presided as chairman.

REHEARSING "MESSIAH" AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL

Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," will be rehearsed by the choir of the First Congregational church of this city next Tuesday evening, under the leadership of Alexander Stewart. Every Tuesday evening the choir will practice for the musical service, which will be held in the First Congregational church July 7. An invitation has been extended the talented singers of this city to join the choir, which will probably be heard at the music festivals at the Panama-Pacific exposition next year. A large orchestra and four soloists will add to the beauty of the program.

TO DELIVER LECTURE TO KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

The Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda Knights of Columbus are making preparations for a capacity attendance at a meeting to be delivered under their roof at St. Mary's College on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. G. W. McKinney, director of the choir, will present the music, and the speakers will be furnished by the "band of brothers" of the Knights of Columbus of Fremont, Miss. Kevin F. McCormick of San Francisco is

CITY GARDEN CHILDREN TO MAKE OAKLAND SPOTLESS

Beautification Plans for 1915 Include Competition in Cleaning Premises

Following the informal endorsement by the City Council of the elaborate plan for the beautification of the city by cleaning up lots and gardens, the plan being to start competition between the various business men in the work, the same being received by Frank Peirce, who is supervising the plan under the auspices of the Oakland Commercial Club.

The first of the children, to carry on the work, will be known as the City Garden Children. The youngsters will work with the object of presenting a spotless Oakland during the Exposition in 1915. Frank Peirce, director of the work, and the central feature will be the competition of the children. The City Commission of Taxation, New York, estimates that each acre of land in Los Angeles with immigration of a higher class it is $1200 a head or $5 a head to a taxable rate of 10 per cent valuation basis. I assume that Oakland has more than New York, although some of your people who will forward plans for the organization of the school children will be

Frank Peirce, who has undertaken the executive work in this organization has made the following statement concerning it.

PROPOSES PLAN.

"I propose to organize the children of Oakland to beautify the city, the work to be done under the direction of a General Citizens Committee having a city-wide representation."

"Preliminary cost for this work is to raise the budget for the next fiscal year shall include $1000 to be placed at the disposal of a committee of small rose bushes and pictures will be taken of the plants, assembled in one or more great rose gardens will be evidence of the work done. Every child will be awarded with his credit growers' name and a certificate of merit. The holders of these certificates will be awarded with a card board with an appropriate emblem will make mountains for the competition."

In the opinion of Mr. V. D. Nichols, who has represented Oakland at various expositions and large shows, the uniqueness of this plan will give it a very reasonable basis for the relatively insignificant sum necessary to carry it into effect.

There is unanimous agreement that this competition of the children is an effective way to enlist the co-operation of adults in beautifying efforts who would otherwise be indifferent to its ap-

SOURCE OF SOUTHERN GROWTH.

"The great wealth and extraordinary growth in population of Southern Caliifornia have their main source in advertisement of it as a land of sunshines and flowers.

San Diego (estimated population 700,000) has nothing to support it but the fixed income earned elsewhere of a majority of its residents. Los Angeles owes at least half of its wealth and most of its growth to the same cause. Oakland has many natural attractions and it has in 1915 an opportunity to advertise them at nominal costs.

THE CITY OF OAKLAND.

"Major Mott has received assurances from the Fruitvale Board of Trade that the City Beautiful campaign is to be carried on in the City of Oakland. The board's secretary, A. F. Weller, has written to the mayor in part as follows: 'I am writing the Fruitvale

Board of Trade of Oakland to co-operate in a house, lot and street cleaning and a 'big' regular meeting of the city's citizens to be held on the 15th of April. I am sure that the people of the city will be interested in the work to be done under the direction of the City Beautiful Committee.'

American cities, and are now beginning to realize that this

LUMBER MAGNATE
WALKER MAY ACQUIRE
OAKLAND SUMMER HOME

THE KNAVE

TO BE EXEMPT FROM FRILLS AND FADS

in those days when he was shipping fruit eastward and piling up a big bank account. Deeming Stubbs of the former company a veritable traffic Gamaliel, he was always a welcome guest in his office and sat at his feet in a figurative sense to drink in all the tricks of transportation and learn the lesson of "all the traffic will bear."

Wouldn't Offend for the World

Mr. —— is young and somewhat cute to look upon, has a fair position in one of the banks, with promising prospects for promotion, and is not a sissy in voice, looks or manner, although some of the women think otherwise. His social aspirations are large, but he's a bore and awfully tiresome as a topic of conversation is, or what he may have said, those with their backs to him painfully realize he is around by his repeated refrain, "I hope I've not offended you."

As the gossip runs, one woman took his measure the other evening at a party and it hurt.

So he's decided to take another tack and shoot off along a new tangent of conduct. He's going to swear at times and indulge in a risqué story. At least he says so. Hearing his refrain, the lady replied: "No, you haven't offended me. Did you ever take a lady in a taxi or auto through the park at night?"

"No, why?" he asked with evident curiosity.

He got this crusher.

"Well, I'm sure she would come back and say you hadn't offended her."

Mrs. Coit Once Fire Lassie

Some of the friends of Mrs. Lily Hitchcock Coit are expecting her to visit her old San Francisco home this summer. She has been away on the continent for quite awhile, with a home in the French capital. The educated daughter of a prominent physician, Mrs. Coit was an active social factor years ago when the Southern set dominated local society. In the museum at Golden Gate Park hangs her picture, as she was when the only fire lassie of the town, an active member of the old Volunteer Fire Department prior to its disbanding in 1866. It is a constant reminder of those interesting days and tells at a glance much of her daring and odd character as a young woman. She actually "ran with the old machine" to all the fires and all the firemen were her devoted slaves, they tell me. How times have changed! I used to hear much of the diary her mother kept for years about early characters and times. It was never published and Mrs. Coit is said to still possess it. Several offers to have portions of it published have been declined by Mrs. Coit for one reason or another. It may never see the light of day, probably, like the personal memoirs of Mrs. Major Darling, which have been often talked of but few have ever seen. Of different types, the two women had decided opinions about everybody they met and had a rich and varied experience to draw upon.

Orchid Specimen Cost $10,000

An establishment down the peninsula has just received a valuable consignment of orchids from foreign climes and I am told most of them will be used in the floral display at the exposition next year. A collecting expedition is credited with having gathered them in Panama, South America and in Africa. Some of the plants are said to be a variety of the white ginger. This is an interest because a fine specimen of that orchid is said to have cost the Coryells of Menlo Park $10,000 several years ago. Others are described as being of the bougainvillea family from Brazil. Its flower is of the same hue as the famous American Beauty rose. Dr. Rudolph Schiffman, a retired surgeon and capitalist of Pasadena, is said to have one of the best specimens ever found. He brought it from Brazil about two years ago. Some very good orchids were obtained on the Isthmus of Panama, and one of the collectors says that the development of the orchid trade in Panama will be of great value to United States florists because of the comparative ease with which the plants can be secured. Several dealers in Colon have been making regular consignments to New York firms. Recently a single shipment to New York consisted of a barrel of plants valued at $6000, all of which were collected within easy radius of the canal zone. He found the wives of several canal commissioners enthusiastic orchidists and was told that the Smithsonian Institution lately had one of its orchid specialists down there to assist in the biological survey of the canal zone with special reference to orchid production. The local shipment consisted of 10,000 plants and is valued in excess of $100,000.

Dr. Perrin to Pay $20,000 Fee

A jury in Superior Judge Hunt's court has given a judgment for $20,000 for lawyer's fees against Dr. E. B. Perrin. It is an aftermath of Perrin's indictment and trial by the Federal authorities in connection with land frauds. Throughout this famous fight, there were many ramifications, including a determined but finally unsuccessful fight to prevent the confirmation of Devlin for a second term as United States Attorney. Perrin proved himself a remarkable fighter with many influential friends in Washington as well as here, but it must have cost for him at his land-fraud trial, and is said to have received a fee of about $65,000. Attorney Fred Hyde went to prison because of these frauds. Perrin, together with John A. Benson, was convicted in 1907. Both were sentenced to a year in prison. Benson served his term, later dying. Perrin continued his fight, taking it from court to court. He finally succeeded in having the Attorney-General's report of Assistant Attorney-General Tamm to the effect that there was no case against him, and that the charges should be dismissed. This report had been pigeon-holed in the Department of Justice. Charles P. Snell, once Perrin's lawyer, was the strongest witness against him when he was convicted. He had been granted immunity as a witness on the recommendation of Detective Burns. Snell was indicted for perjury.

Magnate May Have Oakland Home

Willis Walker, a son of T. B. Walker, one of the lumber kings of Minneapolis, said at the Fairmont Hotel the other day, that his father had decided to begin the cutting and shipping of lumber this year from his large timber holdings in Northwestern California. The Southern Pacific is to soon furnish him with a rail outlet by a branch line it is building from Fernley, a station on the Central Pacific in Nevada, into and through the northeastern tier of counties, and which will eventually connect with the company's line in Oregon leading to Portland and Seattle. Walker owns over a half million acres of timber lands in Shasta, Modoc, Lassen and Plumas counties. When here for a few days several months ago, Mr. Walker said it was his intention of making his forest timber holdings a perpetual lumber industry by means of a thorough conservation and practical and approved forestation. He began buying California timber lands about eighteen years ago. Three of his sons are to live in the State and handle the proposition. I think one of his sons, Clinton L., lives in Piedmont now. There is some talk of the father having a permanent home in Oakland and a summer home near Monterey. He is said to have a fine art collection, which cost him over a million dollars. He has spent ten times that amount for art works he has presented at different times to his home city. In his private art gallery there are paintings that cost between seventy-five and a hundred thousand dollars. There are other fine paintings by Rosa Bonheur, Millet, Corot and Gainsborough, and the famous "The Lost Boy" by Jules Breton. Whether, if Walker establishes a California home, he will bring out any part of his art gallery, I do not know. Some of his San Francisco friends think he will.

Playwright Harris U. C. Product

Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, whose court for juveniles and whose views on the sociology of the child, have made him a national character, was in the city this week on his way to Los Angeles. Lindsey is said to have some tentative arrangement with Oliver Morosco, the theatrical manager of the southern city, and Elmer Harris, the playwright, to assist in the production of the latter's play, "The Little Offender," in which his own juvenile court is reproduced. They have made efforts to have the judge appear as an actor in the play. It is said such an arrangement has not been perfected. But he thinks highly of the piece. Harris, who is a University of California product, spent some time in Denver studying the Lindsey court in order to get comic and tragic effects before he wrote the drama. The judge gave him many pertinent suggestions, as did also George Cred, the reform Police Commissioner of the Rocky Mountain metropolis, a new literary light in a way and a bosom friend of Lindsey. Cred, by the way, is the new husband of our own Blanche Bates, the brilliant actress. Mr.

and Mrs. Cred are as much interested in the play as Judge Lindsey, and they have a great opinion of the enterprise of the Los Angeles manager in the staging of plays, particularly, "The Little Offender."

Could Write Book on Harriman

A few days ago it was announced that Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific board and a director of the Erie road, had resigned as a director of the Baltimore & Ohio. It was explained that his action was due to the growing sentiment of the public against interlocking boards of directors and particularly because the B. & O. and the Erie were competing lines. Lovett succeeded Harriman as the president of both the Union and Southern Pacific roads, retaining them until their combination was was the legal adviser of Harriman, and necessarily close in his confidence. He knew of the big railroad system Harriman had in mind from ocean to ocean. He saw it quickly go to pieces after Harriman's death. His resignation from the B. & O. is but another step in the dissolution of the railroad empire Harriman had in mind. As advisor for the widow of Harriman, Lovett, under the changed conditions, is writing for the big estate left to her. Lovett could write a remarkable book on the plans and vaulting ambition of Harriman but no doubt never will. Otto H. Kuhn, the New York banker, a member of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the New York bankers who backed Harriman for years, once wrote a book on that subject. Lovett's latest step caused me to refer to it the other night, particularly the part wherein he says:

"Harriman's ambition was popularly supposed to be the acquisition of an American transcontinental railroad. How little the Harriman mind was known! Harriman's ambition was not only to be arbiter of the American railroad field, as much as a private citizen could be arbiter, but to have a railroad around the world. Two or three lines from the Atlantic to the Pacific were already his. Among his plans was a comprehensive scheme of railroad development in Manchuria, and the building of another across Siberia and European Russia. These plans were in no embryonic stage. They had been well thought out. The Manchurian project was fairly well in hand and the Russian government had been approached on a new trans-Siberia project."

Cot His First Case From Pullman

Mrs. George M. Pullman, the mother of Mrs. Francis J. Carolan and a prominent social figure in Chicago and Washington, where she has fine homes, is here on a visit to her daughter. Mrs. Pullman's only other living child is Mrs. Frank Lowden of the Lake City. Mr. Lowden was several years ago a Congressman from Illinois. As a young lawyer, he got his first case from the sleeping-car magnate, and later on rose in power and influence as his lawyer. If I mistake not, he has much to do in managing the estate he left to his widow. That property is now considered to be worth in the aggregate about twenty millions, and Mrs. Pullman has long ranked as one of the wealthy widows of the national capital. Her home there on Sixteenth street is looked upon as one of the pretentious mansions of the city. Washington, by the way, is said to have the homes of more rich widows than any other American city. Mrs. Pullman is naturally greatly interested in the new country home down the peninsula the Carolans have just planned out for which they have bought over a thousand acres. At the time of the sale it was said the purchase price was close to a million dollars. It is promised to make the place one of the finest country estates in America, and Mrs. Pullman is represented as being more than friendly to this laudable ambition.

Lent Has Grave and Gay Side

The Lenten season is past and gone, but one continues to hear both the grave and the gay episodes and stories of that period of humility and quiet and becoming conduct. One of the best stories of the season comes from the very proper California Club. It is all about a proposal, John being enamored of May, and one of the fair members claims it to be original.

John—"May, will you marry me?"

May—"Hardly now, John. It's Lent."

John—"Well, will you when you get it back again?"

No Frills for Whitman Baby

Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, nee Crocker, is having lots of pretty things said about her baby son, and, so the story runs, her women friends are pleased to see that it is being given a sensible, matter-of-fact care and attention, without any of the frills and fads that often attend the raising of infants born in the lap of luxury. This is the first great-grandson born to the house founded by Charles Crocker. The mother and father are both wealthy, so the infant's future promises well financially. The late Mrs. Harrison, the wife of Governor-General Harrison of the Philippines, left two daughters. So there are three great-grandchildren in the Crocker house. Henry I. Scott, the manager of the estate left by Mrs. Harrison to her daughters, is now in the East looking after the property, or at least the part of it there. Some of their large interests are in this State. Of the four children left by Charles Crocker, a son, George, died without issue. A daughter, Mrs. Alexander of New York, whose brilltwo daughters. W. H. Crocker, the banker, has some children. A son is in Yale while a daughter is already known in the society of Paris. The late Colonel Fred Crocker left three children. Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Whitman were his two daughters. Templeton Crocker is the son.

Hellman in Summer Home Here

W. W. Hellman, son of the wealthy Los Angeles and San Francisco banker, and the main reliance of the family, has returned from an extended trip to Europe and with his family is occupying his summer home in Alameda county, the property once owned by Edna Wallace Hopper, the actress, and her mother. The young banker and his wife had, from all reports, a most delightful time abroad and were shown many attentions by prominent people. I understand they were the guests while in London of Sir Ernest Cassel, who was a financial adviser for the late King Edward, and still acts in that capacity for the present ruler of Great Britain. While in Berlin some of his influential friends enabled Hellman to be present at a students' duel at the headquarters of one of the university's corps, a privilege rarely accorded to strangers. It was a real duel, too. A doctor had to minister to the wounded duelist. It was too exciting for Mr. Hellman, and he says he would not care to see another contest of that kind. Evidently an American prize fight pales into insignificance alongside of such contests. Mr. Hellman did not make this comparison, though I understand he does not fancy the American sport enough to have ever attended one of the affairs.

Graney Charges Were Tardy

Eddie Graney's billiard parlors on Market street have come into much lambasting this week in the press on the charge that a lot of gambling goes on in the place by means of the billiard games of "academy" and "pea pool." The newspaper charges that the games are not allowed elsewhere in the city by the police, and wants to know why Graney is immune from interruption. Graney could have been subject to this expose fully a year ago, for the men who like that sort of gambling have known for that length of time at least, that they could indulge in it at his place. It is said that only by having such games can he make any profit out of his parlors, where he has plenty of money invested. Big billiard parlors with the ordinary games do not pay in San Francisco, and never have been profitable. Numbers of men are aware of this fact, to their cost. When years ago Orndorff and Joyce opened their parlors at the Cafe Royal at Market and Fourth streets they had the same experience. Colonel J. C. Kirkpatrick of the Palace fared likewise sometime before the fire he fitted up a large billiard resort in the hotel. The open air life of the city, the climate if you please, was blamed by them for this condition of affairs. Half a dozen others, like them, could be mentioned.

I am making no excuses for Graney.

The men I speak of were surprised when Graney went into parlors on a large scale after the fire. But one thing that helped him out was getting a rich man or two to back him in the place. Whether true or not, it has been common talk for a long time that Rodney J. Mackenzie, the Canadian railroad magnate, lover of horse flesh and owner of a big Winnipeg daily paper, who lives here much of the time, has been one of these men. In fact, it is a common report that Mackenzie is a partner in the parlors. One of Graney's particular friends since the graft prosecution has been Fremont Older of the Bulletin. This is why that paper by way of answering the attack on the Graney parlors is calling attention to the gambling that attends the prize fights Coffroth arranges.

$25,000,000 MUSEUM PLANNED

"Biggest in World," Projected for New York; Devoted to "Peaceful Arts."

NEW YORK, April 25.—The biggest museum in the world—and a million times that in the largest—will be born in this little patch of land where clustering millions do things in a big way. And before this month is out it is likely to take definite form in such a way as to be real good, not only in New York, but also in the hundreds of thousands who visit the big city each year.

FEMALE STEAMER PURSER.— "How would you like to be a purser on a steamer?" a friend asked Mrs. Anna Edison recently as she was at the theater. "I'd love it," said Mrs. Edison. Today she is a purser on the Berkshire, the biggest Hudson river steamer plying between points of the plan have set as the cost of this project, to be known as the Museum of Peaceful Arts. The State Board of Regents has issued a certificate of incorporation, and at a recent meeting in the Governor's room of the Lawyers' Club, John A. Stewart, one of the incorporators, said nearly $2,000,000 had been pledged for the sum. The great museums are to be erected in celebration of the signing of the treaty of Ghent in New York City on Christmas eve, 1814. Millions are to be spent in the plan to assist in the reconstruction of the great library and a large auditorium in the South African place on Manhattan Island, possibly in Central Park. A great library and a large auditorium will be the duty of every woman who works for a living. A frump woman is cheating her employer out of something that belongs to her. She must give his business the best appearance possible. It is his right, and it is one of her most important business assets. I have charge of all money on the Berkshire. I sell tickets, make reservations, and am the business head of the vessel. The work is new. It is interesting. I like it. I feel sure I'll be a success. And so could many women.

HAD HEROIC CURE.

Daily travelers in the subway, which transports Manhattan's millions from flat to office and back again, see many a curious sight but few more peculiar than an incident that happened the other day in the jammed express station at the Grand Central Station. Just at the rush hour, when every foot of the island platform on either side of which the trains speed in was jammed with hurrying throngs, a ticket "hopper" on duty fell unconscious at his post. Instantly the stream of passengers bunched about his ticket box. Into the crowd bursted a citizen who bore all the earmarks of a family physician. He bashed aside a police officer who beat over the unconscious "hopper."

"This man has convulsions," said he.

And then he punched the unconscious police station the "Doctor" admitted he was Arthur Colans, carpenter and it was plain he was no teetotaler.

"Too brave" is the simple epitaph which might be truthfully placed over the tomb of Detective Joseph Guarneri, buried here with every police honor after being shot to death in a drunken gunman, whom he, scorning weapons, tried to arrest in a darkened room. Guarneri's fate is illustrative of the end which comes to many a cop in the gun-ridden east side. His slayer, William Horgan, had shot a saloonman as the result of the latter's giving evidence against Horgan's son, a typical East Side tough. Then the elder Horgan took refuge in a friend's flat. Guarneri followed "in trail." As he went to make the arrest Horgan's gun spoke twice and the detective fell dead.

fired at the flash of Horgan's gun and brought the slayer down, a corpse, over the body of his victim.

Guarneri had been shot by gunmen before. All his money had gone to pay for operations that followed. When he was killed there was not a cent for his wife and three babies, but the city gave him $600 a year for life, and several pension funds yielded another $2000 cash to his babies from what.

WHAT SHALL I WEAR TO THE SKATING PARTY, SUE?

"Why, Kathleen, I'm going to wear my new coat I think. A nice coat is simply ideal for those affairs—and mine is such a beauty! Did I tell you that I bought it at Cherry's, and I'm paying for it by the week."

"Cherry's?" Oh! that's the place Jessie was enthusing about the other day. She said something about a lot of lovely coats at $16.50."

"Yes, Kathleen, $16.50 was all mine coat. Any number of the girls bought their coats at Cherry's on Credit. If you need something for these popular Rollins Skating Parties, and for general street wear, one of Cherry's $19.50 suits will just suit you. They come in Poplins and Wool Crepes and Gabardines, and let's see—some of the neatest checks are included too."

"Well, Sue, I just believe I'll pay a visit to Cherry's tomorrow. Let me see if I have the address corrects."

WILL ANNOUNCE LISTS IN CIVIL SERVICE TEST

Tomorrow will probably see an announcement made of the results of the promotional examination held for a city stenographer by the civil service board Friday morning. The examination, which was designed to prepare an eligible list for typewriters, was taken, with a view to promotion, by a number of present employees of the city.

Tomorrow will also see an examination for the position of assistant draftsman. The drawing room of the Oakland High school has been obtained for the use of the board in holding this test.

TRAIN KILLS TIME! WE BEWILDERED CALVES

PORTOLA, April 25.—The much-disputed high cost of living was given another boost last night when Engineer Title Roff, running on passenger train No. 2, struck a hand of calves near town and slaughtered an even dozen. The cattle were owned by Alphonse Kammera. It is presumed the calves became bewildered in the glare of the strong electric headlights and were unable to get off the track.

Saturday, May 2nd

Will be the closing day of our "PRETTY BABY CONTEST." If you have not brought baby in for the FREE SITTING and FREE PICTURE, you should not delay until the last day, as we will be more than busy the coming week.

These, says the count, are just a few instances of his hard luck. Between these are numerous smaller trials and tribulations. He declares that he was arrested in Sacramento for disturbing the peace that nothing could disturb. He simply tried, in a fit of glee, to make the inhabitants rejoice with him in a moment when he thought his "inx" had forsaken him. In the meantime he is preparing his defense for his trial. He will have several witnesses on the stand in his behalf. WILSON'S ADMINISTRATION RECEIVES FIGURATIVE KICK

Free Toll Repeal Policy Completely Repudiated by Americans at Polls

(Special to THE TRIBUNE)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 25.—Complaints of the Wilson administration's policy of proposed repeal of free tolls for coastwise American ships through the Panama Canal have been expressed in no uncertain terms by the people at the polls.

The Wilson administration, figuratively speaking, has been kicked hard under the coattails by the American people, who will never stand for a cowardly and base surrender to Great Britain of our rights to American ships in the Panama canal.

PEOPLE REJECT TOLLS SURRENDER.

The issue was clear cut. There is nothing to mislead about the verdict of the people on the Wilson "scuttle."

Panama tolls policy—they manifested their displeasure at this Democratic but un-American policy in the New Jersey, Boston and Alabama elections.

In the Seventh New Jersey District Dow H. Drucker, a straight Republican, overwhelmingly defeated for Congress the Democratic administration candidate, James J. O'Byrne. Drucker made his fight solely on opposition to tolls repeat.

O'Byrne was the administration pet and stood for repeal. Despite desperate efforts of the administration, which sent Senators James and Lewis into the district, and the fact that this district is in the President's home State, the patriotic voters, as a protest against free tolls, repudiated the Democratic candidate and elected Drucker by more than 5000 majority.

DEADLY GERMS IN PACKAGES COMING

"Sleeping Sickness" on Way
Here: Laboratory Is Planned.

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—Upon the arrival in Los Angeles of four mysterious packages labeled "Fragile! Dangerous! Handle with great care!" which are believed to be now en route from France and Belgium, there will be established near Los Angeles a laboratory in which a work of world wide importance will be undertaken.

The packages contain live and active germs, including leprosy, cholera, and the malignant leprosy of the Orient and the dreaded cancer and tuberculosis of Europe and America.

Dr. Charles F. De Mey, a physician, surgeon and scientist, with other medical men, will be engaged in search of cures for the diseases.

Dr. De Mey was commissioned a few years ago by a rubber syndicate that controls the rubber industry of the Congo, via the Congo Free State, the disease known as the sleeping sickness. Later he was commissioned by the United States government to study leprosy in the Philippines.

Under authority given him by the government, Dr. De Mey established the famous leper colony on the island of Culion where he lived three years among the thousands who were made outcasts by the disease.

Dr. De Mey has been engaged in search of a cure for the disease.

The sleeping sickness and leprosy have always been most interesting mysteries to me. The exact manner in which these diseases are communicated has not been determined, nor has the cause of the disease been discovered.

The sleeping sickness interests me perhaps the most. I expect to begin it first and expect to have the strange spectacle of my laboratory of cats, dogs, guinea pigs, rabbits, chickens and dogs' horses sound asleep in the madhouse.

Authorizing the bureau of permits and licenses to issue permits for foot walks on Avenue and Eighty-seventh avenues and on Holly and Plymouth streets.

Recommending passage of ordinance ordering the closing of portion of Brookdale avenue.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

"The main factor in keeping well is to be in the open air, to make the germs into his system and they may not develop for from 5 to 20 years.

"I have never feared the diseases I studied in the Philippines but my my bungalow of bamboo on the lepers' island and lived there three years. Plenty of food, fresh air, sunshine and up-to-date sanitary arrangements made me feel well. My assistants and nurses accompanied me and did not contract the disease.

We Have Started; We Must Finish.

The national air just now is "The Girl I Left Behind Me." From coast to coast, troops, battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats, destroyers and colliers are being rushed to blockade ports on either shore of Mexico. Everywhere the war spirit is rampant, and if the President wants as many as a million men he can doubtless get them.

Mr. Wilson evidently understands that he must make a display of force and intends doing it as rapidly as possible. With the available regular troops in service we look for the use of the National Guard of the States very soon. That a strong hand must be laid on the excited Mexicans in the section controlled by Huerta is manifest. The shedding of blood that has already occurred is warrant for vigorous action.

Villa's position is a cause for general surprise. He does not propose to become involved in any difficulty with the United States, and says he will not be. Inasmuch as Villa is commander of the army, and the soldiers look upon him, not Carranza, as be-win in his contention. If this surmise proves correct the problem will not be as intricate as otherwise it might be.

Unlike some newspapers we cannot see any reason for getting excited, demanding extreme measures with a view to final annexation of all Mexico, or even a part of it. We do not believe the United States should engage in war for conquest, and while our advice to the President would be to put as many men in the field as necessary, to crush the opposition to our military forces, that when victory was achieved the object should be a plan for Mexico's autonomy based on the rule of the majority, the equality of the citizen and a definite policy of peace and advancement for the now unhappy country.

In view of the peculiar pronunciation attaching to the name of the Mexican dictator, the newspaper paragraphs appear to be having lots of trouble declaring President Wilson to be the man who put the "Hurt" in Huerta.

Chile thinks the United States is not justified in its action in Mexico, which is a cool statement in which to indulge.

Just as if this old world hadn't trouble enough! Now the English suffragettes propose trying to depose Mrs. Pankhurst.

Galveston Getting Busy.

Those business men down in Galveston and other Texas towns are getting busier and busier every day preparing for the opening of the Panama Canal and are preparing for a boom following that means a great commercial stride. The News, in a recent issue, has this to say:

There is to be found in the announcement of the new ship service between the Pacific Coast and Galveston, by way of the Panama Canal, an earnest of that vigorous impetus to the commercial development of this port. By reason of the vastly greater convenience, and smaller transportation expense, the freight rate between Texas and the Pacific Coast will be reduced approximately one-half. Assuming for example that the rate on a certain class of canned goods from San Francisco to Galveston is at present $1, the effect of the transportation by boat will be to reduce the cost to say 55 cents or thereabouts. The same shipment of goods can then be redistributed throughout Texas on local rail rates, which when aggregated, will not be as much as the present rate.

All the Southern States expect to reap great benefits following the canal opening and as has been stated, are preparing to open new markets on the west coast. It is gratifying to be able to announce that since THE TRIBUNE first mentioned the necessity for California to meet conditions by providing shipment for shipment that several activities are announced as getting ready to resume. Among them may be mentioned the woolen mills at Marysville and the sugar factory near Chico beside the statements coming from all over the State of increased and more intense cultivation of all lines of agricultural, horticultural and vinicultural products. California can hold her own and keep the balance of trade in her own hands if proper steps are taken and it is the trade balance that adds to the prosperity of the state.

A University of California expert says the milk supply of the State is as good as that in any other member of the union. Fine! Now, let's apply the usual policy prevalent on the Pacific Coast and make it better.

Harrison's Policy a Failure.

Immediately following the appointment of Francis Burton Harrison as Governor-General of the Philippines, he inaugurated a new policy, supplanting Americans as heads of departments by natives. Among the changes made was the withdrawal of the American supervising auditors. General Harrison evidently proceeded on the theory that because the Filipinos showed capacity and aptitude in subordinate places they could be relied upon as executives.

Dispatches from Manila indicate the Governor-General was in error. Three cases of shortage, totaling 23,000 pesos, have been discovered and the American inspector in Panjasinan declares he has knowledge of a plot to loot the provincial treasury there.

Harrison was evidently in too great a hurry and went beyond the safety line. While it is not too late to retrace his steps, we predict that he will find some difficulty in returning to the policy formerly in operation. Having been shown some preferences, the Filipinos will naturally object to their curtailment and a condition of disaffection will doubtless result that may mean serious consequences hereafter.

Press reports say "General" Coxey's mule balked when the command "March!" was given for the movement on Washington, and a mule has some sense.

It is not every man who can comport himself in such a manner as to offend the naval and military forces of a great nation and expect to receive his apology. But Haeris succeeded.

A TIP!

—BY THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE CARTOONIST.

Wanted—An American Novelist!

We have our Rex Beaches and Winston Churchills, and our own Edgar Saltus, who has started many delightful stories, but completed none; we have Kate Jordan, Ada Patterson, Dorothy Dix and here and there an "Annie Laurie," or a Helen Rowland, yet what book or short anecdote written by either two years ago can we recall today? Not a blooming one, with the possible exception of Churchill's "Crossing," which has a certain value because it deals with Colonel Clark's capture of Kaskaskia and the enlargement of our frontier.

With an area stretching from ocean to ocean and from the Great Lakes to the Southern gulf; with scenery unparalleled; with people diversified in habit and mode of living, strong in their loves and intense in their dislikes, cosmopolitan to the extreme; with the sun shining on one portion of the domain and the gentle showers falling on another at the same time; with the orange blossoming in Southern California at the same moment the boy in Maine is strapping on his skates; with the strawberries ripening on the Pacific Coast at the time the Pennsylvania farmer is thinking about oiling his plow, it would seem as if someone, somewhere, ought to be able to write a book or books that would immortalize us as Dickens did England, or Goethe Germany.

But as a matter of fact we have not had a writer since Hawthorne died. And he is forgotten. So also is Poe. Cooper will be by and by. We have changed in our ideals. The beauty of the forest, the glint of the sunshine on the river as related by the author of "The Last of the Mohicans" no longer appeals.

The weirdness of Poe has been swallowed up in the hideousness of "Dracula," the simple narrative of Hawthorne submerged in the tide of passion rolling around the story of the modern Phryne, who, having sinned, seeks simoleons in the relation of her nasty experience. Namby-pambyism is the standard. "As Major Edwards used to say: "There must be a denouement." Tootsy woofsy and baby boy and all this "fell into his arms with a sigh of content and they lived together happily ever afterward" business.

We have traded the blue waters of the Susquehanna and the Delaware, the rolling seas of grass that marked the western prairies, the alabaster topped peaks of the Rockies and the Sierras with all their rich traditions, for Montmorency and Maud at the altar and the subsequent divorce proceedings.

Lord of Israel! What a race we would be if the modern American novelist had been our progenitor!

Does Cooking Cause Cancer?

Dr. William J. Mayo, the famous surgeon of Rochester, Minn., addressing a meeting of practitioners in New York, raised the question: "Is there some fundamental fault in the food or cooking of civilized men that gives a preponderance to precancerous conditions in the gastric region?" this query following the assertion that cancer of the stomach furnishes one-third of all the cases among civilized peoples.

As one probable cause for cancer Dr. Mayo mentioned large consumption of meat. Among the natives of India the irritation produced by chewing betel nut is alleged to produce the disease. The doctor's implication seems to be that cancer is the result of irritation in many forms, which raises the question that modern methods of cooking may produce an especial disturbance.

Some time ago a London physician declared cancer in the stomach was caused by the use of glazed cooking vessels, from which small particles get into the stomach and intestines. Later an American doctor said the use of aluminum dishes caused a similar state of affairs. Who shall decide when all these eminent authorities disagree?

It is noted, however, that the lower orders of humanity with the use of the many sauces the more enlightened use, do not have cancer as frequently as their higher educated brothers. Still, we may say, we may account for this, the person living in the fresh air and breathing pure air.

"RESURRECTION CARRIES GOSPEL"

John 20:29—"Blessed are they that have not seen, but yet have believed."

This is a "blessed" which does not appear among those enumerated in the platform of teaching uttered on the Mount of Beatitudes or Blessings. The verities of scripture do not now permit of ocular or sensuous verification, such as was enjoyed by the immediate disciples, that seeing we may believe as did Thomas, who refused to accept the joyful announcement of his companions that "we have seen the Lord."

Easter has past, but the day itself has not. The fact of which the day is the anniversary, never. Upon this fact is based the faith of countless millions who have, do and will love Him and who await His appearing.

The fact of Easter is the resurrection, the rising again of Him who was slain on Calvary. This fact is the keystone of the gospel arch. The truth or falsity of the resurrection carries with it the entire gospel. It is not unnatural that doubt should arise, but it is unnatural that it should be maintained that the authors should be excommunicated, that evidence and proofs should be submitted to substantiate the claims for so great and marvelous a fact. But this fact is as clearly established as any human fact can be by competent witnesses, who declare by the evidence of their senses that He arose, and for this fact and person and testimony they were willing and did give their lives. It was only upon ocular and sensitive evidence that these witnesses based their affirmations.

OPPORTUNITY TO VERIFY.

The risen crucified one afforded ample opportunity to verify the fact of his coming back as he said, for he appeared to individuals, families and companions, lest it be said that only one was witness to this great fact. Then, too, it was not years or centuries after the event that doubt was raised, or that questions were asked, but immediately on the first day, when to the absent disciple the announcement was made of the appearance of their Master among them, the one slow to believe affirmed, "Except I shall see in His hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put my hand into His side, I will not believe."

Thomas was not one of those who receive the testimony of his fellow disciples with the same equanimity as one reads a newspaper dispatch. He is willing to believe, but without proof he is afraid to believe, for if his belief should be an illusion that tragedy would be worse than the first. He is one of those struggling, passionate natures that are striving for the truth, and will only acknowledge the truth when they have discovered it, but once having found it they live in it with all their being.

This opportunity came to Thomas to verify the fact of the resurrection, and having done so, he leaps by a single bound from the lowest to the highest round of faith. He surpassed even Peter in his confession of faith. The last became first, the last to believe becomes the first to pronounce the blessed name which is truly his: "My Lord and my God."

Great is the joy of the disciples that they had found their Lord, great is the joy of Thomas that he had made the discovery that the crucified one had arisen, but immeasurably greater the joy of all that "have not seen and yet have believed," who, without the evidence of their senses but by supreme faith in the word of testimony and experience of a Saviour, base their faith in God and a Saviour who lived, died and rose again, and is ascended on high to intercede for us.

Glads are we that the disciples saw their Lord, glads are we for this irrefragable testimony of that which eyes had seen, which they beheld, which their hands had handled concerning Him, Who is the word of life, and for which they bore witness, and happy are we in loving Him Whom we have not seen, on Whom, though now we see Him not, yet, believing, we rejoice greatly with joy unspeakable and full of glory, for in Him we have our being and our hope for eternal blessedness.

THIS LINER IS NOW A GENUINE 'LADY'

Has Seen Many Changes, but Is Now Passenger Ship.

SEATTLE April 25.—The liner of the King who have been in all right, but she had nothing on the steamer Dingo, of the Alaska Steamship company, which entered the Alaska service years ago as a passenger carrier, then shifted to a lumber carrier with a well deck, from a lumber carrier turned into a general freighter and now is about to enter the Cook Inlet run as a passenger vessel. With each change in service, the Dingo had to undergo reconstruction, and probably no two years in so many different ways, which, according to the water front stamps her as a maritime lady of the first quality.

In the early Alaska days the Dingo was one of the best-known passenger vessels running to the North. Years of the old-time Klondikers traveled on her. In 1905 her passenger accommodations and dining hall on the main deck were ripped out and she was converted into a lumber carrier with a well deck in the stern. After two years in the lumber trade she was built up, her forward and after main decks covered and other changes made for her debut as a general freighter.

TO BE REBUILT.

Now, after a successful career as a freighter, she goes back to the passenger trade. Under Superintendent Peterson's direction, workmen are constructing ten large staterooms and a dining hall in the after main deck, the same part of the ship formerly occupied by the main deck passenger quarters. Each of the staterooms will have three berths. The staterooms in the lower deck will be the same as were never torn out and they are now being renovated and refurnished. There are six of the upper deck rooms, each with three berths.

The Dingo, consequently, will have accommodations for forty-eight first-class passengers. She also will have quarters for fifth steerage.

The vessel will specialize in the Cook Inlet trade, in which there is every promise of great activity this season. On her first voyage North, she will carry a number of cannery crews to Southwestern Alaska plants.

DECLARER MORNING IS PROPER DINNER TIME

LONDON, April 25.—The Lancet, the famous medical periodical, upsets London by declaring through the mouth of its Paris correspondent, that learned scientists have proved that the proper time for dinner is half past 7 o'clock in the morning.

It seems that Prof. D'Arsonval, communication to the Academy of Sciences recently, the results of M. Bergonie's studies on the subject, which he said prove that "the least suitable hour for meals are between noon and 1 o'clock, and between 7 and 8 in the evening." These are precisely the hours that Europe has set apart for meals.

According to M. Bergonie, the meal hours in a system of rational hygiene would be as follows: The principal meal of the day at 7:30 a. m., or as soon after that time as possible, so as to obtain all the necessary energy for the day's work and restore the liver, emptied by the night's abstinence; a second meal for dinner at half past 7 o'clock in the morning.

OPPOUSAS, La., April 25.—Arguments in a double identity case, in which the wife of a man who was the capital charge of kidnapping Bert Dunbar, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dunbar of this city, continue, requested by the defense yesterday to obtain proof that the other man, tinker seen near here at the time of the disappearance of the lad was not Walters, but his double.

J. L. Lindner, was refused by the court. It was claimed that Lindner recently was discovered at Delhi, La. The case also hinges on whether the boy found with Walters is Robert Dunbar, or Bruce Anderson. Julia E. Anderson, here as a witness for the defense, declares the boy is her natural son. The Dunbars have taken the lad into their home and assert he is their son, who disappeared in the Marcuse stock.

BERKELEY. April 25.—The exhibition of foreign posters in the assembly hall of the Art School, 218 Alston Way, is now open and free to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

It consists of a fine selection of the work of French, German, Austrian, Spanish, Italian, English, and other countries, some of the best examples of the work of artists famous for this line of work.

Miss Anna Frazee, Director of the Art School, has arranged the exhibition.

The collection of posters is part of the reference library of the art school, the greater part having been collected by Professor H. Miller, Director of the school, during his last two trips to Europe, and more recently by students in Europe and friends traveling there.

Any one interested in this line of art work may see in this exhibition not only the latest developments in poster art, but also what might be done in advertising to set the place of the present inferior posters which disgrace our local bill boards and, although which is directed by the present self-justified and tasteless, yet well-justified and tasteless, should characterize the American poster as it does the European.

Advertising in this form would then add to the pleasure of the public and indirectly increase its taste, and in the long run would prove more profitable to the advertiser.

BERKELEY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION FOUND GOOD

BERKELEY, April 25.—The Harris Trust Company of Chicago has issued a circular offering to the people of Berkeley to explain the value of the securities the company draws attention to the splendid financial condition of Berkeley. The assessed valuation is shown to be over $100,000,000, while the total debt, including the revenue bond issue for severs and fire department, is only $53,568, which is about 2 per cent of the assessed valuation. It is probable that few other cities in the United States is able to show a better record as far as careful management of money affairs. The circular contains additional information concerning Berkeley, including the statement that the population of the city is 40,000, and that the estimated population at present is about 52,000. The building permits for nine years have averaged more than $20,000,000 a year, the growth being remarkably steady.

The city's standing in the financial world is concerned in that the bonds are offered to be sold for not less than 105 5-8, showing that this city's credit abroad is above par.

GOVERNOR TO DEMAND U.S. TROOPS

Colorado Executive Yields to Woman Who Asks for Peace in Mines

DENVER, Colo., April 25.—Yesterday women, Governor E. M. Ammons announced today that he was preparing a long telegram to President Wilson demanding that the Chief Executive send federal troops into the Colorado coal strike zone to take complete charge of the situation. The governor's demand is said to be couched in strong terms.

Ammons reached this decision only after the women had carried on an all-day demonstration in the state house. Late this afternoon they served notice on the governor that they would "camp on the state house steps indefinitely" until he granted their demands. Three other demands were: That the governor go personally to the strike zone, withdraw the state militia and arrest Lieutenant Linderfelt and Major Hamrock, officers in command of the militia at Ludlow during the recent battle when women and children were slain.

ARMED TRUCE STILL ON.

TRINIDAD, Colo., April 25.—The armed truce between militiamen and strikers in the southern Colorado coal fields tonight was continued until such time as some plan for ending the civil warfare here has been effected in Denver.

This was the result of conference late this afternoon between General John C. Chase, commanding the militia, and his staff officers and John McLean, John Lawson, William Diamond and Robert Bolton, representing the United Mine Workers of America. The four union leaders ventured into Ludlow, where several hundred troops are camped, only after Chase had given his word that they would not be molested. The general said he had heard reports of feeling against Governor Ammons in Denver and admitted he might send soldiers from the Trinidad districts to protect the state's executive.

MINISTER'S ARRESTED.

There was no firing throughout the coal strike district today excepting at Chandler, in Fremont county, and a few scattered places. So far as can be learned there were no casualties. There was considerable excitement at Walsenburg when a company of infantry and a machine gun, under Lieutenant Linderfelt, detrained the militia and marched through the streets. They later returned to Ludlow.

This afternoon soldiers at Ludlow arrested Rev. J. C. Paris, Episcopal minister; Rev. Randolph Cook, a Christian minister, and two Trinidad women, when they tried to reach the ruins of the tent colony destroyed in last Monday's raid. They were released later and ordered out of the camp.

URGENT ORDER SENT.

Governor Ammons tonight sent to the President "urgently requesting" that the Executive order at least one battalion of infantry and one troop of cavalry from the United States army into the Colorado strike zone.

The telegram sets forth in considerable detail the situation that has presented itself since the miners struck September and adds:

"There are probably 3000 armed men in open insurrection. I have available 650 militiamen, without ability to materially increase this number. The situation has passed beyond the ability of the state to control. The domestic violence is the result of an industrial controversy between interstate organizations, with headquarters outside of this state. I urgently request that you send forth with not less than one battalion of infantry and one troop of cavalry.

"The legislature cannot be convened in time to meet this emergency and I have the honor to make this request under section 4, article 4, of the constitution of the United States."

To voice a protest against the Ludlow tragedy a mass meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon on the state house grounds, which is expected to be attended by between 20,000 and 30,000 persons.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—While Miss Anna Callaghan of 240 Shatto street busied herself making sandwiches for a tramp who pleaded that he was hungry, the man ransacked her home this afternoon, taking $13 in coin.

Piedmont's Deputy Marshal May Soon Succeed to Office of Chief

W. F. Banks, deputy marshal in Piedmont under Marshal Frank Staiger, since the shake-up that resulted in the dismissal of Marshal John Rose and the appointment of the former city clerk, who was defeated for his own office, has been declared by his assistants as the next marshal of Piedmont. This is the gossip of Piedmont's political circles, and it is known that Staiger, who has decided to retire shortly from the office, has looked with favor upon his assistant's appointment. It is also declared that two of the trustees have also expressed themselves as favorable to the proposed change, and Banks' friends are strongly urging his appointment to the position on Staiger's retirement.

POLITICS INVOLVED.

The appointment of Staiger followed Rose's dismissal, in which the former marshal was dropped because of alleged political activities in favoring Staiger for election of town clerk, which office he had held for some time. The political battle between the "Highlanders" and "Lowlanders" was behind the move. Following Staiger's announcement that he would give up the office in June it was rumored that Rose would be reappointed, but Staiger's friends opposed this action. It was then declared that Banis' choice would be a compromise that would be acceptable to both factions. He has, it is declared, no enemies on either side of the dispute and has declared that he will take no part in any political controversies, preferring to remain neutral to better perform his duties.

AUTHORITY ON DRILLS.

Banks, while never before in police service, is known as an authority on military drills and discipline as appears from his record in the Spanish-American war, and since then has been in the automobile business. He has devised several military drills for police organizations and has often been sought as a lecturing drillmaster to aid in such police work.

It is declared by Banks' friends that his acceptance of the marshal's office will mean absolute and full cooperation with the Oakland force, with which it is extremely popular. In fact, it was through recommendation of Oakland officials that he was first appointed as deputy. He has a wide knowledge of police work. He is well known in club and fraternal circles.

TIRE INDUSTRY ROAD WORK SHOULD BE STARTED QUICK

California Using Over Million Auto Tires Annually

By P. C. STEINMETZ,
Factory Expert for the Davis-Fry Mfg. Co. of Oakland, Maker of the Hercules Auto Tires.

CROSS SECTION OF THE NEW HERCULES TIRE NOW BEING MADE BY THE DAVIS-FRY MANUFACTURING COMPANY IN OAKLAND

To-day the rubber industry speaks in hundreds of millions of dollars, one city alone, about one-half the size of Oakland has twenty-three rubber factories with a total capitalization of $120,000,000 and an annual output of $120,000,000 giving employment to from 20,000 to 30,000 people.

This town alone produces 22,000 tires daily. Can you imagine what this means? The magnitude of these figures can scarcely be comprehended.

It has been only forty years since the industry started and it has been only within the past thirteen years that its growth began to assume imposing size.

Now, while California uses one-tenth of all the tires used in the United States besides a number of nearby states that should be supplied from an Oakland factory, and by actual figures there are less than 150 tires manufactured daily west of the Rocky mountains. California has about 15,000 auto and consumer, 1,000,000 tires last year, with a value of $22,000,000 with an estimate of 25 per cent increase this year. Establishing a factory in Oakland of a size to be able to handle the greater portion of this output means employment for 2,000 to 2,500 people.

P. A. Seiberling of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company ten years ago remarked that he expected to see the day when they alone would manufacture 50,000 tires per day. He has lived to see these figures and far greater, for only last week the factory manufactured 10,625 tires in a single day and are manufacturing 10,000 tires per day continuously.

The factory, located in the city of Akron, Ohio, has grown from 20,000 to 110,000 population in 25 years.

One of the greatest benefits derived from the rubber industry has come to the building trade on account of the tremendous demand for more space each year.

The rubber factories have grown so rapidly that the big companies find it necessary to add new buildings every year, some of these additions seven stories high. It is nothing unusual to construct an addition costing $100,000 and the outlay for new factories in the past ten years figures into the tens of millions.

When a person is told that one company alone has seventy-five acres of floor space, one can realize in a measure what an immense amount of work and of material must have been required to construct all of the buildings needed to carry on the rubber business. The value of the industry's output this year, estimated upon what has already been done and upon orders it will amount to $150,000,000.

It is thought that the figures just mentioned might conclude that it would seem impossible to swell these figures.

But all indications point to great increases each year. Rarely in the history has a rubber company failed; most of them have grown immensely and rapidly.

With the price of crude rubber not prohibitory, but rather at a low level, as it promises to be from now on, and with other conditions equal, the rubber industry is bound to grow with leaps and bounds; especially with the vast increasing demand for motor car and truck tires.

California is acknowledged to be the greatest automobile state in the Union, owing to climate and good roads, and being able to use cars twelve months of the year.

A factory located here is able to compete with eastern factories as it gets the crude rubber direct from South America as cheap as any of the eastern factories.

Likewise with cotton, chemical compounds, etc., with a saving of the high freight rates on the manufactured tire, aside from the climatic conditions being such that the factory will not require artificial heat, which in itself is an enormous expense item. We cannot help but state that we can more than compete and have every reason to believe that California is destined to become the greatest state in the Union.

With the completion of the Panama canal we are bound to have our raw material laid down at our factory as cheaply as at any of the eastern factories.

NEVADA IMPROVES LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Nevada is alive to the importance of the Lincoln highway, according to Fred Hanger of the E. L. Peacock Auto Company, agent for the Mitchell cars, stating, in speaking of the highway in the state.

"Nevada will carry the Lincoln highway from Elko to the California state line.

"At the present time the merchants and citizens of Reno, Carson City, are working with those along the road to Elko getting the road into shape. They are doing some splendid work and within the next sixty days this road will be finished and opened for travel. At the present time going to Elko from Reno or Elko to the state line has to be made in about six hours, whereas the distance is only about half that.

"The road is being repaired at the present time and when finished, the state roads are opened over the summit, and the distance from Elko to the state line is only about half that.

"While a large number of the counties in this section have passed bond issues and have made their appropriations for the improvement of highways, yet the work has not been started in the shape it should have been to meet the great demand of next year. To rush this work which will have to be done if much more time is wasted, will mean that the roads will be constructed in haste and will not be of such a substantial and lasting nature as it would be possible if more time was given to the work.

"The southern parts of the state have been wide awake to this proposition and they are working night and day in completion of the many attractive drives in that section of the state, knowing that undoubtedly many of those who will motor to San Francisco will not return home before they have visited Los Angeles and the other prominent cities of the south. In fact, they are making the roads so attractive down there that they feel that no time will be spent north of the Tehachapi except traveling over either of the two state highways which are to be completed by the time the fairs opens. In other words, they are rivaling the county themselves hoping to bring the visitors south to spend their money instead of leaving it in this section of the state.

Franklin Six from the local distributor and one from the San Francisco branch, to be known as the national Franklin economy test. Franklin cars in every part of the country will start at the same time on the same sort of a trial and it is believed by the Franklin factory officials that the results will be an almost thorough set of facts and figures of automobile efficiency ever secured. The rules of the team are as follows:

First: The test must be made by a Franklin Six-Thirty touring car on Friday morning, May 1st.

Second: Only one gallon of gasoline must be used. This is to be carried in a one-gallon can attached to the side of the car, and the rear gasoline tank disconnected.

Third: The test must be made by both driver and observer before a notary public.

Fourth: The most important consideration is absolute accuracy in every detail.

Fifth: The actual mileage secured must be certified to by both driver and observer before a notary public.

The Mechanical Construction of This— The World's Greatest Motor Car Value— Could Not be a Bit Finer

THE fundamental construction of the Overland could not be a whit better. To be sure it could be made more extravagantly and more richly, but that does not necessarily insure a more practical service.

A $1000 dining-room set might be more elaborate than a $250 dining-room set, but the $250 dining-room set is just as substantial; just as lasting; just as serviceable; just as beautiful; just as ornamental, and, in most cases, is 100% more practical.

The Overland motor is the same in principle, design, action and fundamental construction as the motor used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland frame is of open-hearth steel, identical with that used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland steering knuckle bolt is of 3 1/2% nickel steel, just the same as those used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland drive pinion is of 3 1/2% nickel steel, the same as used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland live axle, which is the driving shaft of the rear axle, is of Chrome nickel steel, the same as used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland front axle, a one-piece drop-forging, is the same as used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland steering knuckle is the same as that used in the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

The Overland radiator in quality is the same as used in one of the most prominent $4000 cars!

The Overland fenders, in quality and material, are the same as used on the $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars!

We use more aluminum, on larger and more important parts, than any other manufacturer in the world. Where others, and often makers of $5000 cars, use cast iron at 3c per pound we use aluminum at 28c per pound!

Each separate Overland test and inspection for quality of material and accuracy of machining is far more thorough than the methods used by manufacturers of $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars.

Each Overland chemical laboratory test, to determine the analysis of each piece of steel used in the construction of the Overland is far more thorough than the methods used by manufacturers of $3000, $4000 and $5000 cars.

A microscopic and detailed dissection of high priced cars proves that fundamentally the Overland is as high in quality and as carefully manufactured as the most expensive cars made.

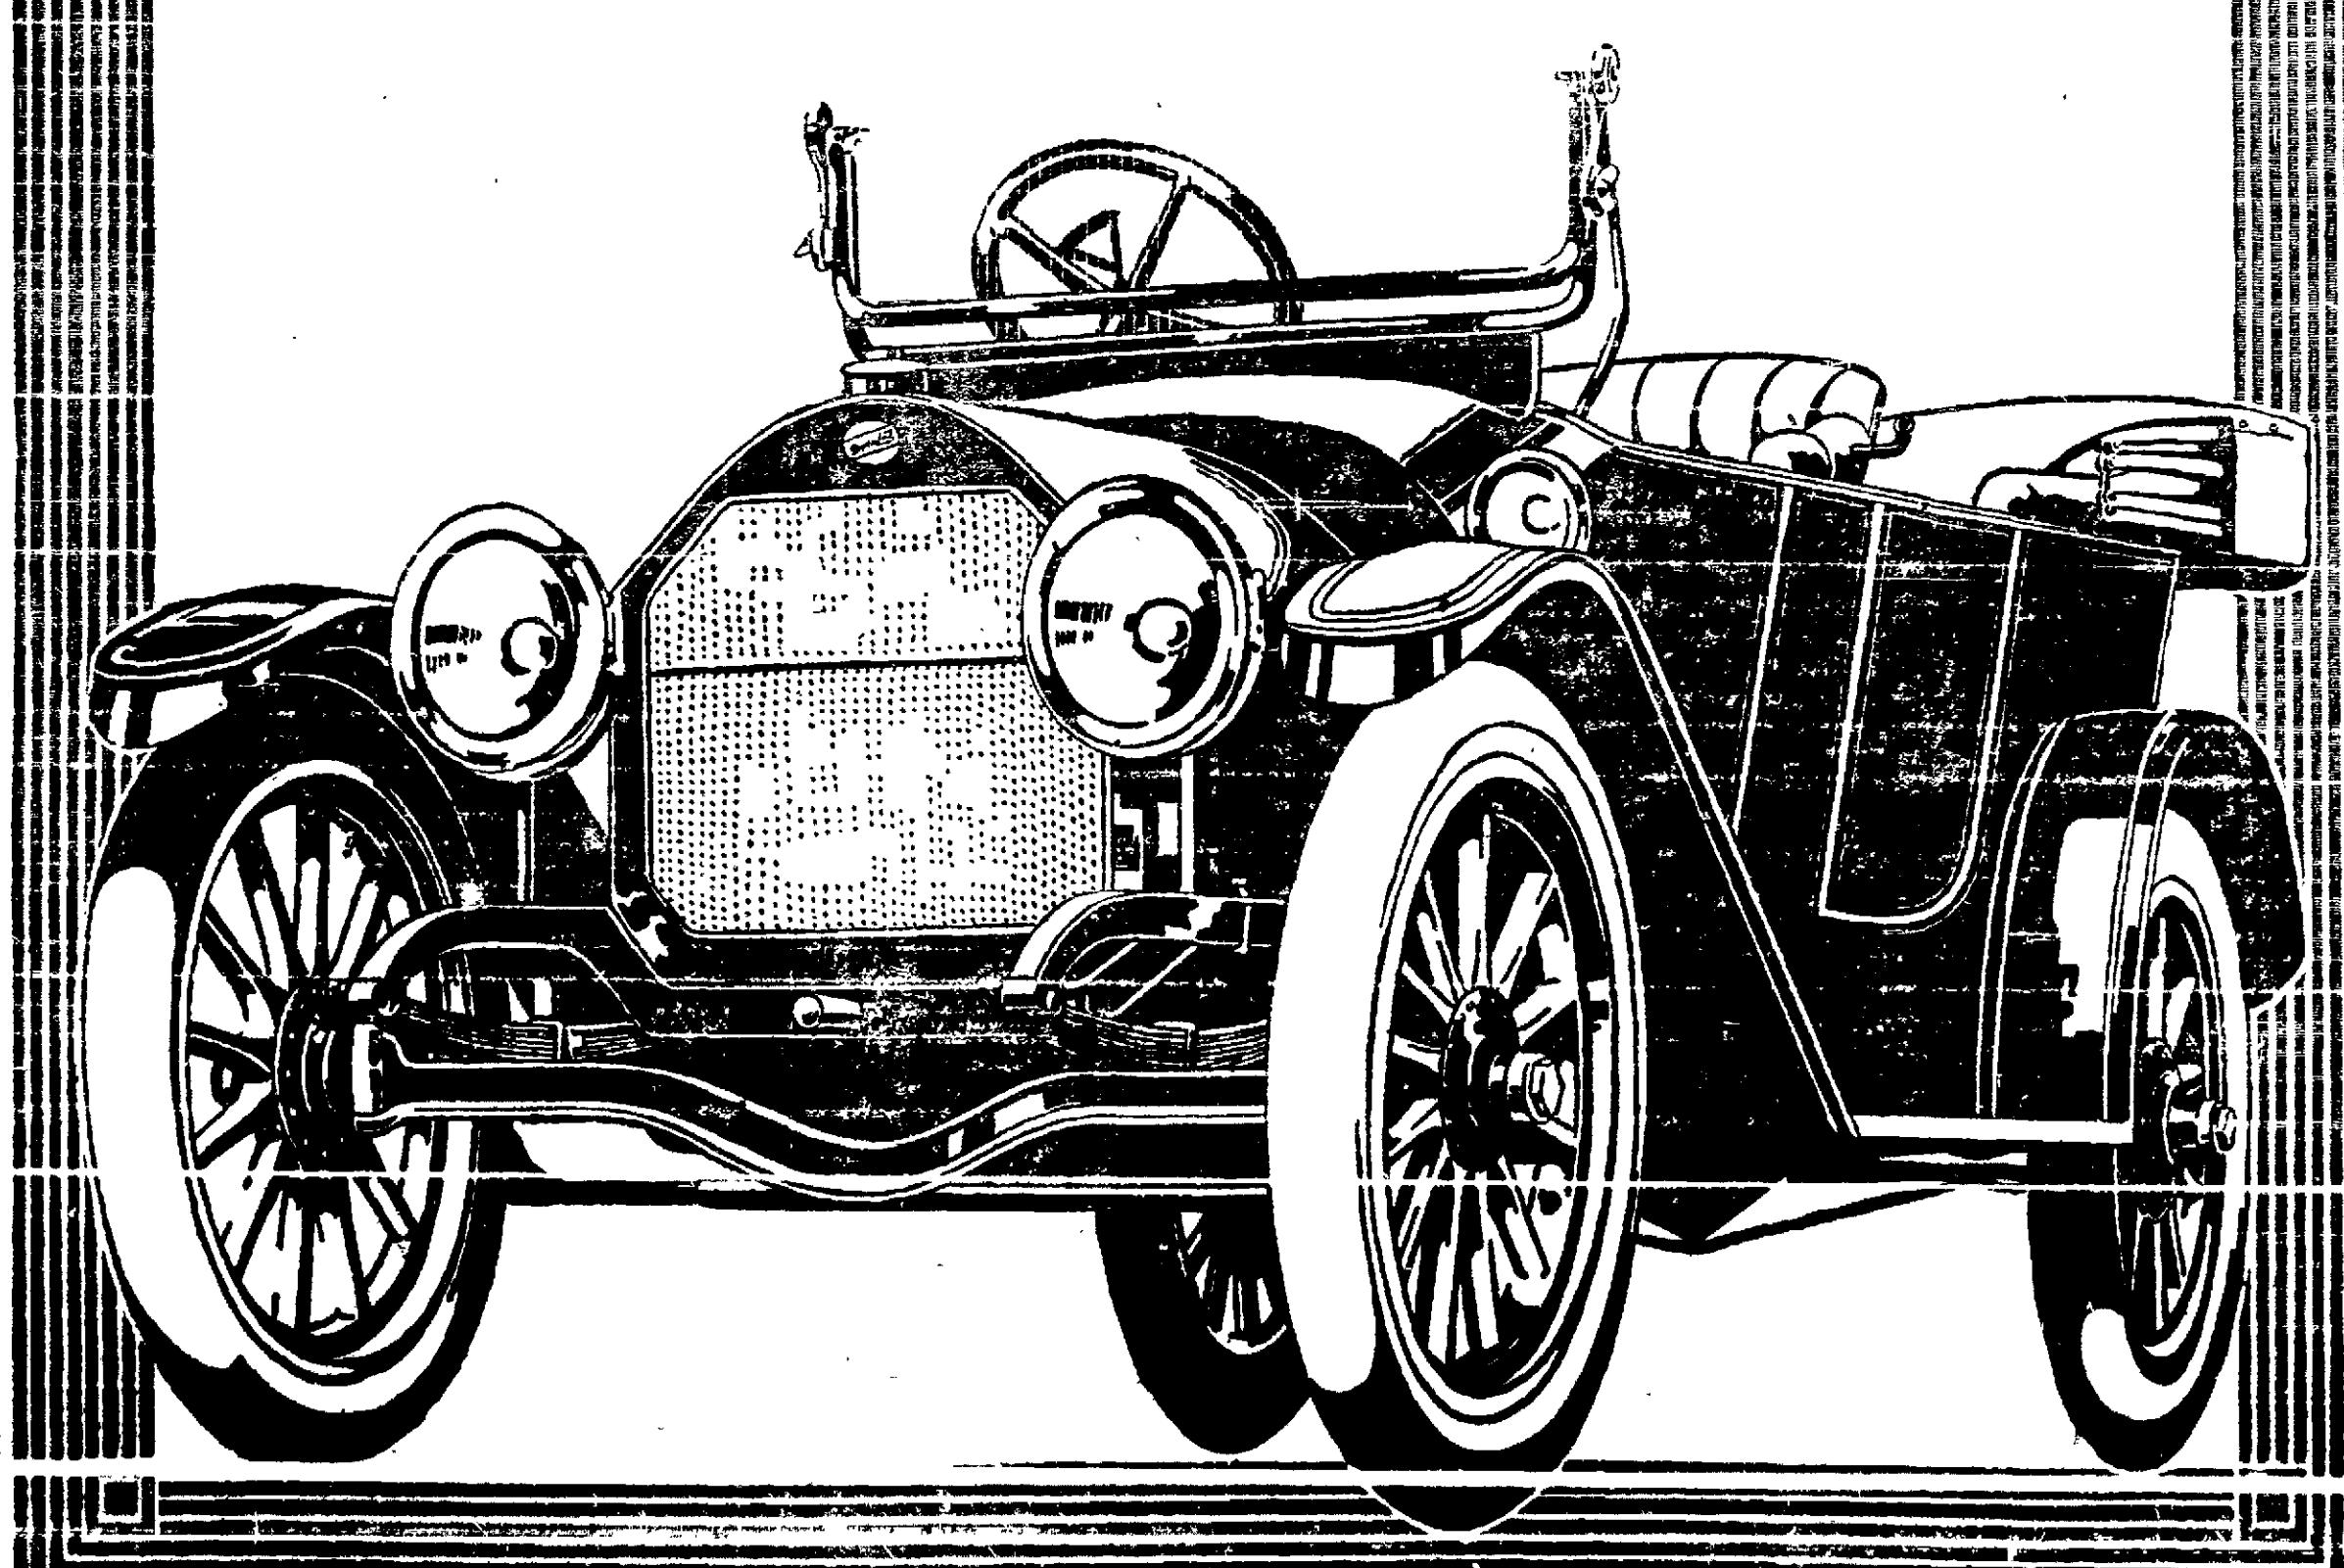

The significance of these facts should mean much to those who expect to buy a car. A practical demonstration will mean a great deal more.

Telephone the Overland dealer and make your appointment as early as possible.

CANYON PICNIC CROUNDS ARE IDEAL

One Day's Run Through Interesting Part of County

(By EDMUND CRINNION)

With the coming of the basket picnic season the autoists of Oakland will again take to lurching in the scenic Niles Canyon and seeking new and interesting return routes,ious enough and attractive enough to round out the day's trip in a manner fitting with the rule of the usual day's run from this city and return.

For the benefit of motorists who are yet unfamiliar with the Niles Canyon trip, the automobile department shows a map and log of the tour, showing the return via Livermore as the trip was made this week by the Buick Six path-finding car, equipped with "Nobby Tread" tires, the speedometer of which showed 74.1 miles for the round trip, with the city hall of Oakland as the starting point. The mileage noted does not cover the detour into the Niles Canyon, for some motorists venture farther up the canyon than others in quest of their ideal picnic grounds. Those following THE TRIBUNE log should check their speedometers on entering and leaving the canyon railroad tunnel entrance, so as to have their readings correspond exactly with the mileage on the map.

At the outset we will state that the return trip shown on the map is not, by far, the best route for the return trip, but for those who wish to drive through some of Alameda county's richest vineyard lands and see some new and interesting scenery it is highly recommended despite the fact that rough road conditions are encountered.

The two most popular return trips from the Niles Canyon probably include the trip following on through the canyon to Sunol and Pleasanton, thence over the Santa Rita and in over the Dublin Canyon and the trip following the map as shown as far as the forks where the Pleasanton and Livermore roads part, and thence back by the Pleasanton road to Santa Rita and the Dublin Canyon. With either of these return trips autoists can avail themselves of the short side trip to the Sunol water tower. Maps of both these return trips will be compiled and published separately in early issues of THE TRIBUNE.

The Livermore route shown on the map is rough with some medium grades, but at no place is it as bad as the Foothill Boulevard, between the Oakland and Hayward city limits. The detour around Lake Chabot as shown on the map avoids this rough section of the Boulevard on the return trip. Also in going one can, if desired, detour by way of San Leandro and East Twentieth street to Hayward and check mileage with the map at the Mt. Eden and Alvarado crossroad beyond Hayward to 13.1 and then resume the trip as mapped, thereby avoiding the rough portion of the boulevard.

The map shows the best road out of Oakland, viz: East Twelfth street to Thirteenth street, East Fourteenth street to Twenty-fourth avenue, up Twenty-fourth avenue to the Foothill Boulevard. The rougher going on the entire trip is over the section of the Dublin Canyon on the Oakland side of Dublin. This is in excellent condition.

RUBBER SUPPLIED FROM PLANTATION

Scientific Methods of Rubber Experts Lower Prices of Tires.

"The development of plantation rubber, which in the past few years has not only brought down crude rubber prices, but changed the world's basic supply, has had a marked effect on the tire-making industry," says an official of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. "This in turn has worked an advantage to tire users and the whole automobile industry."

"Four or five years ago Brazil produced the world's high-grade rubber supply, and the price per pound was steadily rising. It reached $1.40 a pound in 1919, and the supply was not up to the demand, so that a serious crisis was in sight, and there was danger that the prices of rubber products such as tires would become prohibitive and seriously retard the development of the automobile except as a toy of the very wealthy."

"Meanwhile, far-sighted men and companies had established vast plantations, had established vast plantations of young growing rubber trees, easily accessible instead of being located in remote jungles, and susceptible of the best scientific training. At first the product of these plantations was very small, but it has grown year after year, until it is now greater than the wild rubber supply, and has not, even now, reached its full development. Crude rubber has recently been as low as 60 cents per pound. Recently there has been a little rise, but indications are that the trend will be gradually downward for some time, until a rock-bottom price on the basis of a full development of the plantation system has been reached."

"Brazil, which in the beginning did not take seriously the menace of the plantations, failed to protect herself, either with extensive plantations of her own or by importing facilities for gathering her wild product and preparing it for market, so now the big basis of the crude supply is in other parts of the tropics, such as Ceylon, the Philippines, etc."

"As a result of all these things, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., which reduced its tire prices gradually, as crude rubber came down, is now supplying the trade a much better tire at a much lower price than a few years ago. For all through the changes of the industry Goodyear has striven at all times to make its tire better in quality. This policy is vindicated by the fact that Goodyear sales in 1913 amounted to $13,666,000 at a profit of 6½% on that volume. Thus it is apparent that Goodyear, while increasing the efficiency of its tire, has at the same time shared liberally with the trade, the advantage of lower crude rubber prices."

TIRE INFLATION RULES OUTLINED

"There are so many different factors having an influence on the usage of tires, that no rule for inflation can be adopted which will be exactly suitable to all conditions," says H. E. Estery of the local Firestone tire branch. "Style of car construction, the weight and its distribution, power, road conditions, speed, the expert or careless driver, effect of climate, and numerous other things all have important connections with the strains to which the tire will be subjected. Consequently a fixed rule for inflation would, in view of these things, produce different results."

"The schedules of inflation recommended by the tire companies provide a basis from which to work. Ordinarily the tire on front wheels should be inflated from 15 to 18 lbs. per inch of tire section and the rear tires from 15 to 20 lbs. per inch of tire section. For example: 4 inch tires on front wheels from 60 to 72 lbs. and the rear from 60 to 80 lbs. The variation in these pressures naturally depends upon the things before mentioned, principally the weight of car. For instance, tires on a car weighing 1500 lbs. will require a pressure of 15 lbs. on the tires on a car weighing 2500 lbs. The tires ride hard when pumped up to a high pressure and used on light cars but with the same pressure ride comfortably on a heavy car."

"In determining the correct size of tire and the proper inflation, it is important to know the weight of car and its distribution on the front and rear wheels. Run front half of car on platform scales and make note of the weights. Then place only the rear half of car on scales recording this weight also. The weight

400,000 Users Found Goodyear The Greatest Tire Yet 16 Makes Now Sell at Higher Prices

We Dropped 28%

In 1913, No-Rim-Cut tire prices dropped 28 per cent. No other tire dropped that much. Our mammoth output and new equipment gave us great advantage. And we pared our average profit last year down to 6½ per cent.

Now 16 makes sell at higher prices. Some up to one-half higher. You can get four Goodyears for the price of three of several rival makes.

Yet All Lack These

Yet all those higher-priced tires lack these four exclusive features:

Our No-Rim-Cut feature, which has ended rim-cutting entirely.

Our "On-Air" cure, which extra process costs $1,500 daily. It is done to save the countless blow-outs due to wrinkled fabric.

Our rubber rivets, hundreds of which we use in each tire before we vulcanize. They are formed at the point where tread separation occurs, and they lessen this danger by 60 per cent.

THE GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY, AKRON, OHIO

This Company has no connection whatever with any other similar concern which uses the Goodyear name.

Any Dealer can supply you Goodyear Tires. If the wanted size is not in stock he will telephone our Local Branch.

Our All-Weather tread, double-thick and tough, as flat as a smooth tread, yet presenting to wet roads the deepest, sharpest, most non-slip grip.

These features have made No-Rim-Cut tires the most popular tires in the world. They have won, we judge, at least 400,000 users. They have saved tire users many millions of dollars. Yet not a tire sold at higher prices offers you any one of them.

Then Why Over-Pay?

Men are right in seeking the utmost in a tire, whatever the street costs. Tires skinned to sell at an underprice are the costliest tire in the long run.

But the evidence is that No-Rim-Cut tires are the best tires built today. And no reasonable reason can be given for a higher price.

Any dealer will supply you Goodyear tires if you say that you prefer them.

JOLSON AS HUMORIST; HE BARS MOTHER-IN-LAW JOKE

Former Oakland Boy, Now Star, Wants Title as Best of Jokesmiths

"Al Jolson, creative humorist as well as 'entertainer'" That is the title that the noted American star, formerly an Oakland boy and now a visitor here, has his eye on. Wherever he is writing a book of funny stories after his own fashion, and plans to publish it next fall.

"I don't want to be a 'comedian'—I want to be a 'Mark Twain' than a Tennyson. That's why I've tried to write an original funny book. I haven't a joke on the tango, on mothers-in-law, or on chorus girls and lobsters in the whole work."

Jolson completed the first sheet of his book a few days ago and last night showed it to a number of his old friends in Oakland among old friends among some of his flashes of wit according to his proofs are the following:

An Englishman and a Frenchman were traveling together in a sedan, and the Frenchman said at first he was the only one who could draw his companion into conversation, and the Englishman replied:

"What's the matter with you? You're alone. Your coat's been burning for the last five minutes, but I didn't notice it about it."

"One night in New York, on my way home after the performance of the Winter Garden, I ran across an old mate one of the shoe streets."

"What's the matter with you? You may be alone. Your coat's been burning for the last five minutes, but I didn't notice it about it."

OAKLAND REALTY MARKET SHOWS VITALITY

INFLUENCES IN LOCAL TRADE

Oakland's real estate market is showing marked vitality. There are many influences contributing to this marked condition.

business quarters is one of the most important factors, in the downtown section. The coming of new factories by the scores, increasing the middle-class population of the city, is another weighty influence, with particular bearing on the subdivision market.

The growth of Oakland in many lines of advancement serves in a general way to vitalize real estate trading. The city's building record is also something that strikes the outside investor favorably. The rising of thousands of new homes and many fine business structures, public schools and other municipal buildings causes the would-be purchaser of property to place his faith in the city which shows determination to acquire such improvements. He is impressed by the confidence which citizens show in their own community, and finds himself easily convinced of the opportunities here.

That the 1915 conventions already secured for Oakland guarantee 50,000 visitors, who are to spend it is estimated, a total of $1,500,000, at the rate of $3 a day per delegate, was the announcement made last week by Managing Director Joseph E. Caine of the Oakland Commercial Club. Caine launched, about the same time, a campaign for several more conventions, including the parks and playgrounds meeting, the vocational training, and the Association of Agricultural Colleges conventions. The director believes the gatherings here during 1915 alone will more than pay for the municipal auditorium now under construction, and which the voters are to be asked to support by carrying bonds for its completion.

Oakland's bank clearings for the week ending last Thursday showed an increase of almost half a million over the preceding week, the exact amount being $492,827. Los Angeles showed a gain of but $275,332. San Francisco's gain was but $222,800 more than Oakland's. All the other cities in California reporting to the State Development Board, with the exception of Sacramento, with a gain of $73,574, showed a decrease over the preceding week.

BIG REALTY DEAL IS CONSUMMATED

One of the biggest and most important real estate transactions in many years has just been closed between The Wickham Havens Company and E. J. Henderson, the big real estate operator.

All of the holdings of the former company, known as Havencourt and Havencourt Addition, have been taken over by Henderson and added to his Electric Loop properties, and the whole district will be offered to the public soon.

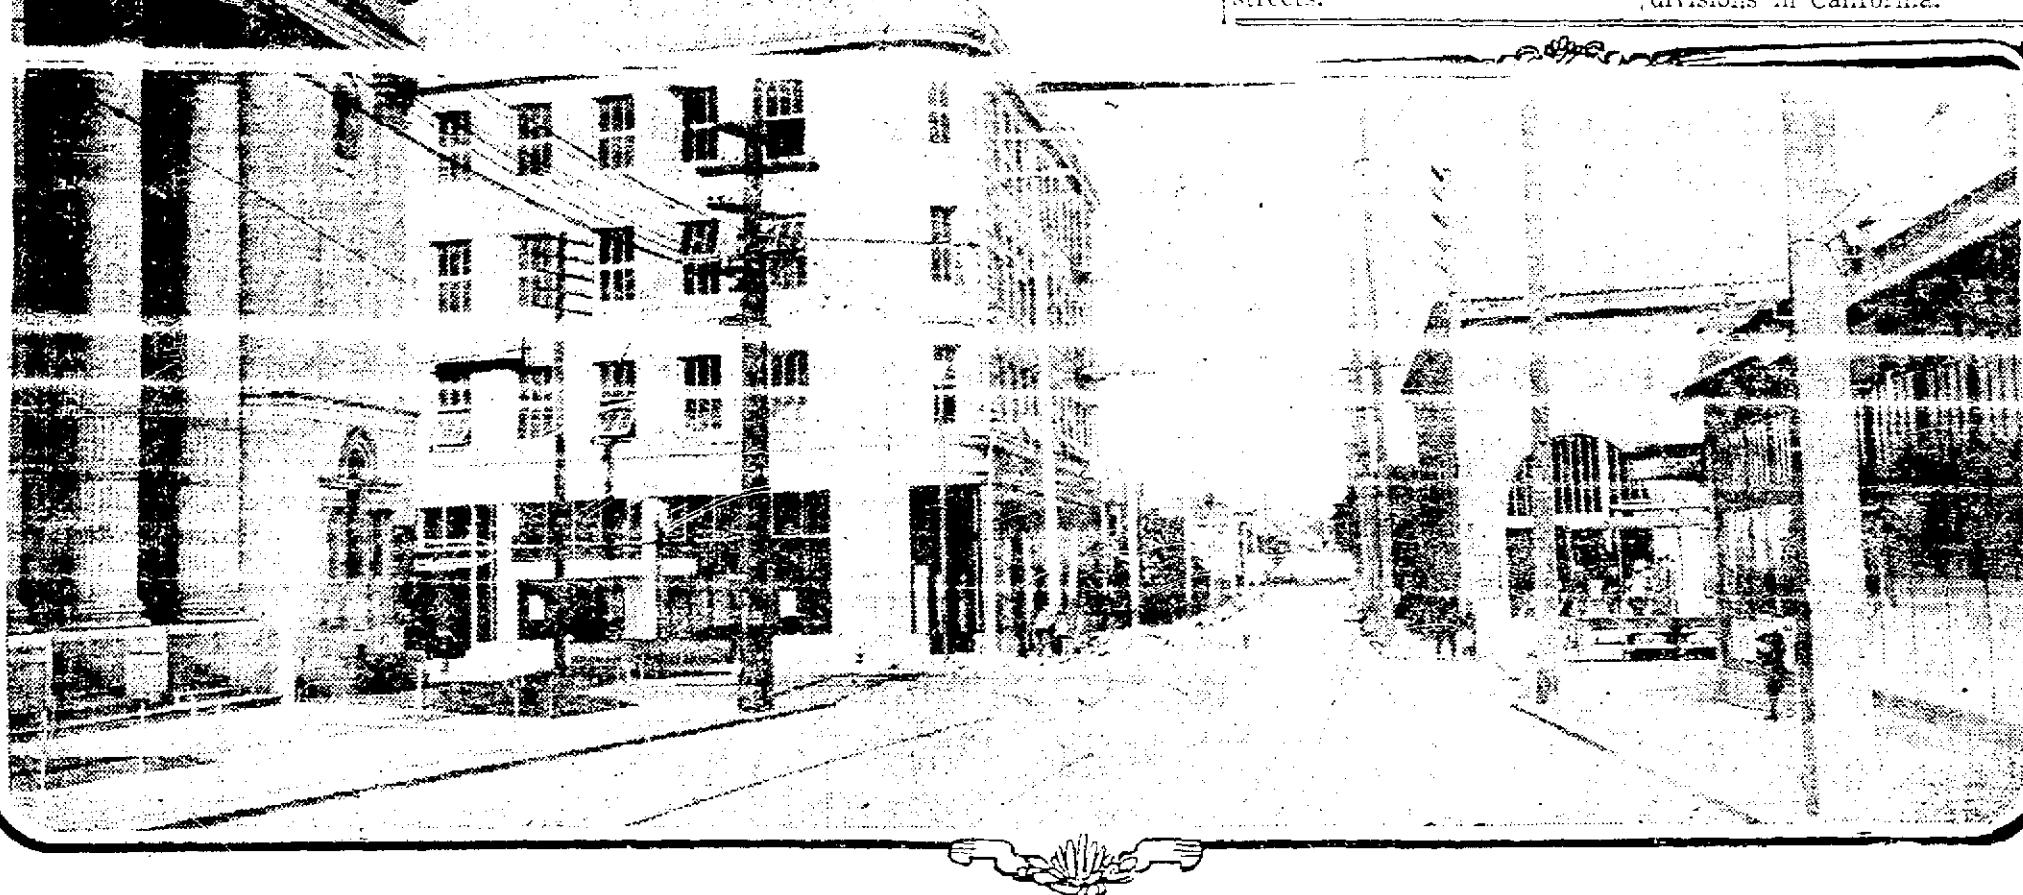

Until Mr. Henderson was approached there was no dealer large enough to entertain the property as a whole. His policy is large sales at small profit, thus giving the purchasers an opportunity of making a profit should they care to resell. In the past two years Mr. Henderson has sold over five thousand lots on the east side of the bay—this is the best example of the magnitude of his organization.

In an interview today he said: "The Wickham Havens Company have been anxious for several months to dispose of their entire attention to their large holdings in Peralta, and knowing that I have practically sold out all the properties I had then made me an offer of their Havencourt Addition. They made me a proposition which I finally accepted."

"My part methods and policies shall be adopted and the entire property will be offered to the public on a new basis. Sale price down and easy terms will prevail throughout the tract."

He said: "I have been able to make arrangements with the railroad companies for the new City Hall, for the new City Hall, for the police and fire departments, for the electric transportation, for the telephone and the other departments."

He said: "The city of Oakland has been able to submit a proposal for the new City Hall, for the new City Hall, for the police and fire departments, for the electric transportation, for the telephone and the other departments."

The four corners of Broadway and Twenty-fourth street have been improved within the last two years. The First Methodist Church was recently dedicated. Opposite are three modern auto agency buildings.

NOTABLE RECORD OF HARBOR DEVELOPMENT IS PRESENTED

Committee of Chamber of Commerce Reports on Plans

The rivers and harbors committee of the Chamber of Commerce has prepared a report on Oakland waterfront history, development and plans, which is to be formally presented to the board of directors of the organization next Tuesday. The report is the most comprehensive that has ever been written. The most salient portions are as follows:

Yours rivers and harbors committee report thereon at four and one-half percent per annum for the purpose of entering into the municipal waterfront development under the management and control of the Oakland city government.

Your committee presents a finding of facts, with a very full history of the operations during the last eight years, and also submits some recommendations.

The report herewith submitted includes the following result of an investigation into the municipal waterfront development under the management and control of the Oakland city government.

The report herewith submitted includes quotations from city ordinances, from the State Legislature and from the various departments of the Oakland city government, which bear directly upon the waterfront work. The report has been made to make as complete a showing of the official acts and proceedings as possible, and to get the facts out in detail in cases of voting bonds for municipal purposes.

A copy of this ordinance is attached, marked exhibit "B".

The official records do not disclose the facts but the current newspaper stories, and the records of the various departments of the city government, bear directly upon the waterfront work.

The report has been made to make as complete a showing of the official acts and proceedings as possible, and to get the facts out in detail in cases of voting bonds for municipal purposes.

The provisions of many of these acts of council and legislature quoted, define the powers of the city government to extend or restrict the rights and privileges of transportation corporations and other occupants and claimants to the waterfront.

These districts were first. The upper two districts, the first and second, annexed just after the bond election, second, the section west of Broadway on the estuary, and third, the western front or Key Route basin. These districts have come to be designated for convenience, the eastern frontage, the central frontage and the western frontage.

into tracts of from two to twenty acres. It is intended that the residents of this valley will be chiefly men whose vacations take them to the city and who farm as a pastime for the purpose of combating the high cost of living.

When the valley begins to fill up with residents, a lively little business community will be both necessary and inevitable. This is why crews of men have been at work for some weeks grading the streets of Moraga, laying sidewalk, curbs and piping the whole townsite for a water system.

Plans are made for a city of ten thousand, with a business district restricted in its confines, with a model civic center where the public buildings must be built in a group, with residential restrictions as to price and location on lot, every provision for the town that will approach the aims of city planning excellence.

The plan of the streets will be one of the most attractive features of the new town. The civic center will be oval in shape and the principal streets will radiate from it in six different directions, widening into parks at the limits of the townsite and continuing throughout the valley and into the hills.

There will be no straight streets in Moraga—every thoroughfare will have curves and crescents and the more important streets will be marked here and there by massive urns. There will be trees in great profusion on all the streets and the main approach to the town will be ornamented in this manner for a distance of half a mile.
